MILLION DOLLAR MUNICIPAL WATER PROJECT IS STARTED

"THUS we see, my son," said Lord Chesterfield, "with how little wisdom the world is governed." As, for instance: Legislatures have been meeting all over the United States since the first of the year. Most of them have adjourned, or are about to adjourn. Every one of them had dumped into its hopper ten times more bills than the wisest of its members could digest. A few of them passed, mostly by influence or logrolling, during the main body of the session. In the final days, everything was rushed through, without thought or consideration, and dumped on the governor, who, in many states, vetoed most of it, and was generally applauded for so doing. To examine critically all those bills was beyond the physical and mental capacity of the governor too. So he called in assistance, from official and unofficial friends, none of them chosen for this purpose or responsible to anybody. On their advice he acted—usually wisely; for we are, after all, surprisingly well governed by this system. But when does it resemble "government by the people" or their representatives?

Members of this year's graduating class of the largest American university were asked which they would rather have won, the "C" representing athletic prowess, or the Phi Beta Kappa key, representing scholastic honor. They voted, two to one, for the athletic trophy.

It would be interesting to analyze the reasons for this apparently cynical choice. It was certainly not that these hundreds of intelligent and educated young men regarded muscle as more honorable than brains. Probably not one of them personally would admire a robust hood-carrier above the leader of one of the learned professions.

But it doubtless did indicate that they regarded prominence in the sight of their fellows as the most desirable human achievement. Under the competitive system, a successful athlete has had the chance to earn applause before audiences of tens or hundreds of thousands and to have his name blazoned by the press to millions. Scholarship, while admittedly a nobler achievement, brings no such reward. Measured by this standard, the choice, while not altruistic, was not foolish.

The California legislature, possibly incited thereto by capable chamber of commerce lobbyists, defeated a "blacklisting bill" which would have made it illegal for employers to put out lists of persons who were to be refused employment by others. It would have been a good bill, so far as it went. But it had gone the rest of the way, as enjoyed by the golden rule and by good law-making, its chief opponents would have been precisely the labor unions who in this limited form sponsored it. For what such a bill brought to the attention of the blacklisting, not merely by employers, but by anybody, should be illegal. That would prohibit "unfair house" and "scab" lists, as well as the other sort. If it is wrong on one side, as the unions insist, it is wrong on the other. Or, if it is right on one side, as the chamber of commerce lobbyists in this case maintained, it is right on the other. But you could not get either side to agree to either of these propositions. The golden rule is honored in theory by all of us. In its practical application to our own affairs, it is the rarest and hardest thing in human nature.

The French object to the payment "in kind" of several hundred railway cars by the Germans, in spite of the fact that it is provided by the treaty and that it is in return for French cars carried off by the Germans. What we all want is that our creditors shall pay us, in full, in money.

There is, to be sure, not money enough in the world to do it, and if there were, its transfer in such quantities from one country to another would destroy its value by the very process of transfer. All great international debts must be paid, directly or indirectly in kind, or they cannot be paid at all. But don't blame the French for refusing to recognize this. Do you, for our debts?

GOLD BASIS IS RESUMED IN ENGLAND

Churchill Announces Return In Budget Speech In House of Commons

TRADE REVIVAL SEEN

Chancellor of Exchequer Says 166 Millions Will Be Paid on Debt to U. S.

LONDON, April 28.—Great Britain returned to a gold standard today, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons, where he introduced the budget for the coming fiscal year.

Addressing a house in which every seat was filled, the galleries being crowded with distinguished visitors and peers, while the entire country waited for details of the budget, Churchill added that the government had decided to allow the Bank of England to export bullion, starting today.

The chancellor of the exchequer announced that the dominions also are returning to the gold standard.

"Australia is acting today," he told the house.

Great Britain has arranged for credit of $300,000,000 in the United States, if necessary, Churchill said.

Payments on U. S. Debt.

A government fund of $166,000,000 will be issued in June and December to make debt payments to the United States, he added.

A surplus of three million pounds shown by the year-end statement will be devoted to redemption of the national debt.

On March 31, 1924, Britain's debt was 7,650,000,000 pounds. On March 31, 1925, it had been reduced to 7,646,000,000.

Explaining the lifting of the prohibition against exportation of gold, Churchill said the act preventing this would have expired on Dec. 31, 1925, and that the government had decided to allow it to lapse.

"I am convinced that our financial position justifies return to the gold standard," he continued.

"Our accumulated gold reserve is now 153,000,000 pounds."

Return to the gold standard, in the opinion of the chancellor, will assist a great revival of trade.

Assurance of Stability.

"The moment is most favorable for action," he continued. "We have entered a period when, on both sides of the Atlantic ocean, political and economic stability is more assured than it has been for some time."

"England is not moving along in this regard. The United States and Germany, in their own way, are returning to a gold standard."

Explaining France's debt to England, Churchill said that Anglo-French negotiations were proceeding, but that he was not counting on payments from France in connection with the present budget.

The bill to legalize the proposed move to obtain a $800,000,000 credit in the United States, if necessary, would be introduced tomorrow.

"I will ask the house to pass this bill as a matter of urgency," Churchill added.

The chancellor announced that interest on Britain's national debt was now seventy million pounds less than in 1920. It is necessary, however, to continue the policy of debt repayment, for which reason the government proposes to raise the sinking fund statutory limit.

Favors McKenna Tariffs.

Churchill proposed re-imposition of the "McKenna tariffs" drawn up by Reginald McKenna, a previous chancellor, which were abrogated by the labor government. He recommended that these duties become effective July 1.

The "McKenna duties" so-called, were imposed when Reginald McKenna was chancellor of the exchequer in the previous Conservative government. They consisted of tariffs on luxuries, such as autos, moving picture films, watches, clocks, and the like.

The MacDonald government abolished these duties when it succeeded the previous Baldwin government.

"We do not expect a brilliant expansion of trade, but a steady growth," he continued, adding, he anticipated that Great Britain would receive nine million pounds sterling in German reparations, but that he was not counting on any repayment of Allied debts in 1925.

"If anything is collected from France, it will be a big relief," he said.

Churchill's budget calls for expenditures estimated at 799,000,000 pounds. The prospective revenue is estimated at $26,000,000.

COMMUNISTS ACT AGAINST HINDENBURG INAUGURATION AS PRESIDENT OF GERMANY

BERLIN, April 28.—German Communists took action today against the inauguration of President-elect Hindenburg.

Proclaiming a general strike on inauguration day—probably May 9—the Communists issued a set of demands as follows:

Dissolution of the Reichswehr, or safety police, and all monarchist and Fascist organizations.

Reorganization of the police along less military lines.

Disbandment of the "technische nothilfe," or official government strike-breaking organization.

Confiscation of all princely fortunes.

Expulsion of all members of the former ruling houses of Germany, including the ex-crown prince and sons of the king of Saxony.

Removal of all monarchistically inclined government officials.

Release of proletarian political prisoners.

An 8-hour day.

Removal of taxes burdensome to the proletariat.

Simultaneously, the Socialists, while condemning the Communists for making possible Hindenburg's election, warned workers against the "Hindenburg program."

Still resting from the exertions of the campaign, Hindenburg received many friends at his castle at Gross Schwalper, but declined to make any political statement before being officially notified of his election.

There was much humming of the old imperial colors in red, white and black rosettes, but it was all good natured. War cripples, peasants, stiff backed junkies, dignitaries of the Nationalist party—mingled in the village streets and went together to cheer the old general.

Flags of the republican bloc have been hauled down, for the most part, but those of the monarchists, with the old imperial colors, still proudly waved over Berlin, Potsdam and many cities.

In political circles, where preparations are under way for the inauguration of Hindenburg as the first popularly elected president of Germany, the belief was firmly established today that the government's foreign policy will not be altered.

The most enthusiastic monarchists have no outspoken intention of attempting to bring about a change, nor do they anticipate early restoration of the monarchy. But republicans admit the monarchists have been strengthened tremendously, especially in morale, by Hindenburg's election and admit that perhaps an effort to restore the monarchy will come in 10 or 15 years.

The judges will decide by just what margin the "blue" attackers gained the victory and just what is the benefit of the great war game.

The "war" ended yesterday, when the most formidable armada ever grouped under the Stars and Stripes won the attack upon the island of Oahu, chief of the Hawaiian group, upon which Pearl Harbor Naval base and Honolulu are situated.

The victory is taken as proof of the weakness of the nation's web of defense at this "crossroads of the Pacific."

An official communique, issued by the umpires late last night, explained the "blue" victory as follows:

The weight and number of the "blue" force played a most important part in the struggle, forcing the "black" first line defense back to previously prepared positions. Reinforcements failed to repel the attack and the fighting marines dashed through to their objective.

Marines landed and pushed through from Hailowai. A feint attack at Maunaloa Bay, and a secondary thrust at Barber's point preceded the major engagement.

"Blue" bombing planes raked the coast in advance of the marines' landing, but there was heavy loss among the invading ranks.

Troops Force Way Forward.

A large force of "blue" troops landed successfully between Waialua and Kawaihapai and pressed on into the island.

Admiral Conzot and his coordinating impies are considering conflicting claims of "blue" and "black" commanders as to the merits of activities during the day, previous to official termination of the "war" at noon.

One army garrison, 20 submarines, six destroyers and 90 airplanes were used by the "black" defenders in their vain effort to protect the islands. The "blue" invading fleet was about the same strength as the Japanese navy.

Superiority in air forces lay with the defenders and the "blue" victory was gained despite this handicap. Admiral S. S. Robinson, commander of the attackers, had less than one-third the number of planes that were available to Major General Lewis, defense chief.

Bombardment from Ships.

The final attack came when the battleships West Virginia, Maryland and Tennessee bombed the West Coast of Oahu, while the Wyoming sailed into Maunaloa bay, on the southeast coast.

The seven battleships remaining "shelled" the northern coast, laying down a curtain of fire to protect the lander from the marines.

The victory was not won without heavy losses on both sides. Airplanes, battleships, submarines and men were either disabled or captured. Exact toll of the "war" will not be known until the umpires complete their study and may then possibly not be revealed.

SACRAMENTO, April 28.—The first of what may be a series of nation-wide suits to protect virgin forests and timber lands from careless fires, has been filed in federal court here.

U. S. District Attorney Gerald R. Johnson, on behalf of the government, is asking damages amounting to $175,000 of the Feather River Lumber company, of Portola, Plumas county.

The petition alleges that, due to carelessness on the part of employees of the Feather River company, timber lands which burned over many hundreds of acres.

The suit is the first of its kind, it is believed, and may be used in other instances where carelessness results in damage to government forests.

German women are raising their boys to be soldiers and want war. In fact, they want peace—for which reason Hindenburg's campaign managers took care to get out the slogan: "A vote for Hindenburg means a vote for peace."

Dr. Adolph Schrieber, well known in America, who lectured last year in New York, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis and elsewhere, said:

"I am convinced Hindenburg's victory did not signify a victory for militarism nor a victory for a specific political direction, but was rather the victory of political unipersonality."

"A majority of women are politically unschooled and were easy victims of the agitation of parties of the right wing, which reached into even the smallest villages."

OFFICERS IN PARLEY UPON HAWAII LOSS

Inadequacy In Protection Of Crossroads of Pacific Clearly Shown By Battle

HONOLULU, April 28.—Post-war parleys were in session here today. With the Hawaiian islands "captured" by the navy opposing the sea and land forces defending them, Adm. Robert E. Coontz, chief umpire, called fellow officers together in a 2-day critique.

The judges will decide by just what margin the "blue" attackers gained the victory and just what is the benefit of the great war game.

The "war" ended yesterday, when the most formidable armada ever grouped under the Stars and Stripes won the attack upon the island of Oahu, chief of the Hawaiian group, upon which Pearl Harbor Naval base and Honolulu are situated.

100 Are Burned Alive In Chinese Town

LONDON, April 28.—The burning alive and stoning to death of 100 inhabitants of the Chinese town of Tsu Ling Chung is described by the Central News' Tientsin correspondent.

Six hundred bandits attacked the town, the inhabitants fleeing in terror. The bandits captured 100 and entombed them in a cave, filling the entrance with an enormous heap of firewood, which was lighted. Most of the victims were burned to death, but some struggled through the flames, to be killed with stones.

WHEATLEY ON WAY TO SERVE PRISON TERM

Just one week, almost to the hour, from the time Charles B. Wheatley presented a bogus check for $6300 to a teller in the First National bank, receiving $2500 in cash on it, he was on his way to Folsom prison to serve a term of from one to 14 years.

Announcement was made early today by Sheriff Sam Jernigan that Wheatley would be taken to Folsom this afternoon. He will leave Los Angeles tonight and tomorrow morning will start serving time.

Wheatley presented the check at the bank last Wednesday afternoon, shortly after 2 o'clock. Just after 3 o'clock today, he was taken from the jail to the Pacific Electric car, for the first lap of his journey to the state prison.

Wheatley Vastly Changed.

The week has brought about a great change in the man. A week ago, scores of persons saw him on the street here, well dressed, handsome, a man who was in a position to enjoy life, free happy. He discussed recent troubles with an unconcerned air that made friends believe he was happy.

Today, just a week later, he apparently has aged years. His usual gay manner is gone, and there is no smile on his face. His nerves are shattered, and the strain has been so great that he has lost several pounds in weight. The man of today is far different from the man of a week ago.

When arrested at Alamos pier last Saturday morning, officers found a large number of new articles in Wheatley's room at a small boarding house on the shore. These were confiscated and brought to the sheriff's office.

Scarcely Able to Write.

This morning, in a handwriting that was hardly legible, the former newspaper man, signed a release of these articles and, they were given to the First National bank, which will sell them, as a means of securing as much as possible of the arrested Wheatley confessed he illegally won.

The bank already has recovered $2300 of the $2500 Wheatley obtained on the check and the articles returned to the bank today will net possibly $50 more.

A 22 caliber rifle, with several hundred rounds of ammunition, a large electric signal light, a suitcase, a fishing pole and kit, completely outfitted with hooks, lines, reel, weights; a dink with a 6-inch blade, a fishing knife, a sea-going slicker and a new razor of an expensive make, were among the articles turned over to the bank.

Ryan Takes Him To Pen.

Constable Joe Ryan, the man who with Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy, arrested Wheatley on the pier has been selected to take the prisoner to Folsom. Ryan, at the time of the arrest, walked up to Wheatley and said: "Hello Charlie." "Hello Joe," Wheatley is alleged to have answered. Then no other words were passed until the prisoner had entered the Orange county jail.

Fear Man Trapped In Boiler Is Dead

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28.—Divers have abandoned hope of finding alive George H. Schiermer, a workman, who was believed trapped in the boiler room of the tug Kentucky when it pitched over into the harbor from the marine railway of a local ship building plant.

CITY BRINGS ACTIONS TO SECURE SANTA ANA RIVER LAND FOR GRAVITY PLANT

Proposal Includes Acquisition of 300 Acres for Development and Reservoir Site

WITH the filing today by City Attorney Z. B. West, jr., of 17 condemnation suits against property owners along the Santa Ana river, the city council had initiated a $1,206,000 project for providing Santa Ana with a permanent gravity water system. An election to vote bonds for this amount will be held in June or July. The proposal includes the acquisition of 300 acres of water-bearing land on the east side of the river, extending north from Chapman street bridge to Struck avenue, Orange, and a site on the Bixby property, at Olive, for a reservoir with capacity of 47,000,000 gallons.

Action of the council followed submission last night of the final report of J. B. Lippincott, water engineer, of Los Angeles, who has made an exhaustive study of the water situation here at the instance of the councils of Santa Ana and Orange.

Orange, however, has decided to not enter into a joint development program and each city is acting independently in its program for a supply source that will be permanent and that will insure water for the needs of each municipality for many years to come.

Names of Defendants.

Defendants named in the suits are, W. W. Laidley, Viola S. Laidley, A. E. Raine, Mary V. Raine, Orange County Trust and Savings bank, George T. Shaffer, Frances S. Packard, Lida S. Reed, Ella Stoner, Virginia S. Brundage, R. F. Lotspeich, J. O. Lotspeich, Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, Henry Hinrichs, Mary P. Wall, Pearl Lang, William D. Wall, Mary Louisa Chapman, Richard Beck Chapman, Lucy Coziah Lantz, Louisa Evelyn Johnson, Olive and West Orange Protection district of Orange county, Alfred Scott Chapman, William Chapman, J. E. Parker, Mary E. Parker, J. R. Porter, Mary Page Brunner, George M. Bradley, Henry E. W. Barnes, Clarice C. Keefe, John C. Keefe, J. H. McNeill, William Crowley, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, Christina Schmitz, Amy C. Brown, Fred Eckhoff, Herman Hinz, C. N. Frazier, Margaret H. Decker, John P. Decker, A. S. Ralph, Orange County Title company, Auto Club of Orange county, L. E. Smith, Joseph Giroux, J. L. Giroux company, First National bank of Santa Ana, C. M. Hinrichs, Peter Ficken and Charles Harrod.

Estimates of Costs.

Costs estimated by the engineer are as follows: Lands, $60,000; five wells, $41,142; pumps and buildings, $34,980; pumping sump, $35,558; booster station and equipment, $25,700; collecting mains, $25,000; trunk main riveted steel pipe, $453,460; reservoir, $340,444; total, $1,016,294. The use of cast iron pipe in the trunk main would increase the total to $1,206,293. The council has decided on cast iron pipe.

Plans of the city provide for five 24 or 26-inch wells, with the booster pump located about 1800 feet north of the Chapman street bridge.

Starting at the station, the main line will run east on Parker street to Bandick (the extension of North Main street beyond Chapman street), north on Bandick to Collins, east on Collins to Batavia, north on Batavia to Vista, east on Vista to Tustin avenue, north on Tustin avenue to the corner near the brick yard plant at Olive, thence in an easterly direction half a mile to the reservoir site. The reservoir will be 680 feet long, 432 feet wide and 30 to 40 feet deep. This line also will be used for distribution of the water to Santa Ana, by automatic control of the pumps at the booster station, water going into the reservoir when a pressure of 80 pounds is reached in the lines at the present municipal plant on East First street. When the pressure is less than 80 pounds, water will be pumped direct into the mains for Santa Ana. The line to Santa Ana will connect with the main line on Bandick street, and will run south to Main street, south along Main street to Edgewood, east on Edgewood to Lincoln, south on Lincoln to Stafford, and west on Stafford to French street, where the tie-in will be made with the distributing system of the city.

About 18 Months Required.

According to Walter Gray, superintendent of the water plant, and Nat H. Neff, city engineer, the improvements can be completed within 18 months or one year after work is started. It is their opinion that the new system will be available to Santa Ana within 18 months, if voters approve the bonds when they are submitted and of this there is little doubt.

Reports Realty Exchange.

A real estate transaction of a smaller nature was also announced today by Harry D. Bladen, who has traded five acres of land at and near 925 Fairview avenue, to Lewis Brausch, local contractor, for property at the northwest corner of Broadway and Highland avenues, known as 730 South Broadway.

The property which Bladen obtained contains three garages with apartments over the garages. The deal also includes, according to Bladen, a six room house on East First street, in the Mountain View tract. The transaction was made through J. H. Neff, real estate man of the firm of Neil and Hansen.

Bored Holes In Walls; Is Jailed

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Boring holes into adjoining hotel rooms put Joseph White, 27, in jail here, where he is under examination today while seeking to raise a $1000 bail bond. Police are uncertain whether White really wanted to enact a "Peeping Tom" part or was preparing "listening points" in preparation for burglary.

Defer Flight of Naval Dirigible

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 28.—The naval dirigible, Los Angeles, probably will not leave for Mayaguez, Porto Rico, until tomorrow morning. The airship is moored to its mast, ready to sail at a moment's notice, but Capt. George W. Steele, executive officer of the dirigible, announced early today weather reports were unfavorable.

YOUR foot is as different from your neighbor's as your nose is. Even when you and your neighbor wear the same size shoe, can it really fit you both, when your feet are so different?

Walk-Over has a shoe for both of you, and it is a different shoe, not merely a different size. There is at least one Walk-Over shoe to fit every known type of foot. Your own shoe is waiting for you, here at the Walk-Over store, with a fit that is comfortable, and personal to you, in a style as smart as shoes can be made.

You get more than style and comfort in Walk-Overs—you get the pear-shaped heel. That is an exclusive Walk-Over feature that makes shoes fit better. See in these diagrams how shoe heels are made. The ordinary heel is so narrow at the bottom that there is no room for your heel to expand. It is no wonder that pressure from your weight makes ordinary shoes gape at the top.

The pear-shaped heel has room at the bottom for your heel to expand, and it clings at the top. It makes fine-fitting, good-looking Walk-Over shoes fit better, feel better and look better.

OFFER REDUCED FARES FOR P.-T. STATE MEETING

Advices covering traffic arrangements for the big state convention to be held at Fresno, May 12, were received this morning by Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, president of the Fourth District Congress of Mothers and P.-T. A. from the Los Angeles Federation of Parent-Teacher associations.

The advices state that the Southern Pacific railway company will give half fare on return tickets, if 250 are in attendance. A special train will be provided from Los Angeles if 125 tickets are purchased, it is intimated. This would possibly leave Monday evening about 7:30 p. m., arriving in Fresno at 3:00 a. m. Cars would be sidetracked and sleepers not disturbed. Straight fare from Los Angeles to Fresno is $10.08. If one and one-half fare is secured, based on attendance using rail transportation, the round trip would be $15.25. Berths will be $3 for upper and $3.25 for lower, each way.

Mrs. David E. Morgan, corresponding secretary of the Los Angeles Federation, requests that those in Orange county desiring to take advantage of these arrangements, including reservation on the special convention train, communicate at once with Mrs. Snow, 497 West First street so that reservations can be placed at once.

SALARY BOOST ANNOUNCED FOR COUNTY JUDGE

With receipt here of word from Harry Lutgens, secretary to Gov. Friend W. Richardson, that the governor had signed the bill increasing the pay of the three judges of the Orange county superior court from $5000 to $6000 a year, interest was increased here in the possible successor to Judge F. C. Drumm, who has resigned, with July 1 designated as the date he will retire.

It is said that Governor Richardson has found it rather difficult to find competent men to fill positions of judges in the state because of the low salaries attached, and for this reason he is favorable to the increase for the jurists serving this county.

So far as could be learned here today no Orange county man has made a direct application to the governor for appointment to the vacancy created by the resignation of Drumm.

Several lawyers of the county have been mentioned as possible appointees, among them L. A. West, District Attorney A. P. Nelson and H. J. Forgy, all of this city; H. G. Ames, Anaheim and E. J. Marks, Fullerton.

The opinion was expressed here today that the governor would not give consideration to a successor to Drumm until after he has cleaned up legislative matters developing during the session of the state legislature.

DENY PETITION FOR UNION OF TWO DISTRICTS

The county board of supervisors at its regular meeting this morning denied a petition of voters in the Olinda and the Yorba Linda elementary school districts to consolidate into one elementary school district.

The petition of the Olinda district forms a part of the newly organized Brea-Olinda high school district, having voted to withdraw from the Fullerton high school district. The Yorba Linda district belongs to the Fullerton high school district.

The granting of the petition would have forced an election to decide whether the proposed consolidated Olinda and Yorba Linda elementary district should be a part of the Fullerton high school district, or be added to the newly created Brea-Olinda high school district.

Card Party Plans Of Sorority Girls
Saturday, May 9, will be a gala day to all card lovers of Santa Ana, if members of the Pan-Hellenic society have any say about it—and according to an enthusiastic committee, they have, and will present one of the most brilliant card parties of the spring, at the handsome home at 1313 North Broadway whose second floor is occupied by the Charles L. Davises.

The entire first floor with its large rooms en suite, will offer ample space for a large crowd of bridge players, and Pan-Hellenic members plan to give an artistic and home-like effect by the use of softly shaded lamps, pillows, and a wealth of flowers. The event will be held both afternoon and evening and many the enterprising hostess who plans to reserve tables for the evening function and call together a congenial little group of her and her husband's friends for a spirited contest.

The afternoon tables will also be open to gentlemen, but a greater number of masculine guests is expected to be present in evening hours than during the business hours of a work-a-day world. Both the pivot and progressing plan of playing will be followed, subject to the inclination of groups. Iced punch will be served but more elaborate refreshments will be foregone although a committee will arrange for a sale of home-made candy. Prizes will be awarded at each table. A very small sum is being asked for the tickets which are obtainable from Miss Eleanor Sturgeon or any member of the group.

Miss Marjorie Ellis is chairman of the general committee and the Misses Hattie Hutton and Helen Randall as her co-workers.

May Dance Plans of Current Events Folk

"Come dance around the May-pole."
Singing the members of Ebells first Current Events section as they complete plans for a most elaborate welcome to May-day in the form of a dancing party at Ebells club, Friday night, May 1. The function will be a benefit, the proceeds to complete payments on the new carpet which covers the auditorium aisles and was enjoyed by Ebells members for the first time at yesterday afternoon's meeting.

Mrs. Charles V. Doty, leader of the section is receiving enthusiastic co-operation from every member, in her plans for the dance and found it unnecessary to appoint many chairmen, so general was the response to her call for aid. As chairman of the music committee, she secured the popular Duke Martin's orchestra which will begin a "peppy" program of dance music promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Several prize dances will be introduced and Mrs. Arthur May as chairman of the prize committee, will have the pleasure of presenting beautiful May baskets to winners in each event. The thirty dancers will be regaled with iced punch which Mrs. W. H. Fairbanks and her committee will serve. In every respect, the hostesses will offer a delightful evening and informality will prevail. The same prices that have characterized earlier dances, will be in effect and a large crowd is anticipated, as members of the section are all extremely popular young matrons whose circles of friends anticipate a happy evening with them.

Mrs. Charles Doty as leader, has as her sister officers, Mrs. Ray Townsend, secretary and Mrs. Cyrus Lurker, treasurer. The remaining members are Mesdames Edward B. Van Meter, Norbert Lentz, Jesse Rose, Charles Chamberlain, Homer Chase, Jesse Goodwin, X. V. Ayers, Clarence M. McIlhenny, Benny Osterman, W. H. Fairbanks, Harvey Bennett, Arthur May, Jules Hilton, John Knox, John Estes Jr., Harvey Gardner, Harry Huffman, Miss Norma Wingood and Miss Louise Tubbs.

SALARY INCREASES AND MORE DEPUTIES GRANTED ORANGE COUNTY OFFICERS

Providing increased salaries for most of the county officers and more of their deputies, besides increasing the personnel of various offices, the new Orange county government act was today an established law, to become effective within 90 days. Governor Richardson signed the bill yesterday, according to Sacramento dispatches.

Salary increases ranging from $300 to $800 per annum for county officers and their deputies, addition of 11 new deputies in several of offices, larger allowances for extra office help during "rush" periods, and fixing of a $50 a month traveling allowance for county supervisors, were main features of the act, which was introduced by Assemblyman S. C. Hartman.

Supervisors' salaries remain as before, $200 a month. The traveling allowance, for expenses inside the county, is an addition, affecting all of the supervisors except S. H. Finley of the first district, which comprises the city of Santa Ana, and has no roads to require in special trips.

Comparison of Salaries

The present salaries of county officers and the new schedule provided by the act, follow:

County clerk, $3000 raised to $4000; sheriff, $3400, remains the same; recorder, $3000 to $3400; auditor $300 to $3600; treasurer, $2800 to $3600; tax collector, $3000 to $3600; assessor $3900 to $4200; superintendent of schools, $2800 to $3400; district attorney $3600 to $4000; coroner and public administrator, remains on fee basis; county surveyor, $8 a day raised to $10 a day for time actually employed.

Chief deputies were all placed on a salary of $2400 a year, except in the treasurer's and recorder's office, where each receive $2100. The chief criminal deputy sheriff was raised from $2000 to $2400.

Six deputies were added to the sheriff's office, including two additional jailors, three outside deputies, each at salaries of $150 a month, and an assistant in the fingerprint bureau, at $125 per month. A seventh deputy provided under the new act was previously provided by other means. The salary of the sheriff's office deputy was increased from $1500 to $1800. The sheriff will now have 15 deputies.

New Deputy for Clerk

An additional office deputy was provided for the county clerk at a salary of $150 a month, while the clerk's allowance for extra help was raised from $1800 to $2400. The treasurer was allowed $1500 for extra help. The new act provides that all fees of this office go to the county, thus approximately equalizing the $800 salary increases granted the treasurer.

The tax collector was given an increase of $6000 for extra help, making a total allowance of $11,000. The assessor's extra allowance was raised from $8500 to $20,000. The auditor's extra allowance increased from $2000 to $4400; it is pointed out that most of these allowances, now granted under the government act, were formally provided by other means, and thus do not represent any considerable actual increase. They should have been included in the county government acts long ago, officials say.

Besides the chief deputy's raise, the auditor gets an extra deputy at $1800, and the present second deputy gets an increase from $1500 to $1800.

The second deputy in the tax collector's office gets a similar increase.

Two More for Assessor

In the assessor's office, there is a new valuation deputy at $2000, and a new office deputy at $2100.

The district attorney gets a new deputy at $2800, and the chief deputy is increased from $3000 to $3400. There is another deputy at $2400.

The county superintendent of schools is required under the new act, to turn all fees to the county. But the office has no fees, it is said, unless the superintendent's "per diem" allowance for attending meetings of the board of education should be interpreted as a fee. This question remains in doubt.

Justices of the peace and constables find their salaries unchanged, where the population of their townships is not more than 12,000. The old county government act provided a schedule up to 12,000, without change. The new act has made but one change in this.

Townships of less than 3000 population are increased from $10 to $25 a month. The new act, however, carries the schedule up to townships of 20,000 population or over. This means an increase for Santa Ana officials, and possibly those of one or two other townships.

The schedule follows:

Population 20,000 or over, $175 a month; 15,000 to 20,000, $150 a month; 12,000 to 15,000, $125 a month, as at present; 9000 to 12,000, $100 a month; 6000 to 9000, $75; 3000 to 6000 $5 a month; less than $3000, $25 a month.

Inherits $3000 Estate.

Wiley Hale, of Garden Grove, and his seven children, are heirs to the $3000 estate left by Hale's wife, Sarah C. Hale, who died April 24. A petition for letters of administration was filed in superior court today by William Hale.

Desertion and non-support were charges contained in a divorce complaint on file today in superior court, Annie L. Collier of Newport Beach appearing as plaintiff against William A. Collier of Wasco. The Colliers were married in Bakersfield in 1916, and separated at Newport Beach last April.

“He Can Afford to Dress Poorly”

If your position in life and your income are independent of what others think, you can wear almost any kind of clothes.

To dress well is necessary only if you want to become more than you are, to get more than you now have.

If you doubt that good clothes are important, why not try lending money to men who dress like hoboes?

The indifferently dressed man is the hobo of the business world. He feeds on the crumbs that fall from the tables of those who feast.

“I can't afford to dress well,” argues the business hobo; “the Boss can, of course.” Old chap, if either of you could afford to dress poorly it would be the Boss. He's already got his. He knows the need of looking his best in order to get more.

It's your decision that will prevail, of course, and your future that's at stake. If you think you'll succeed without dressing well, go ahead and try it.

DAN CUPID IS SHOOTING MOST DARTS IN CITY

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Dan Cupid, archer extraordinary, has apparently found the flow of population from the rural sections to the metropolitan districts. That is the case, at least, if figures compiled by L. E. Ross, director of the state bureau of vital statistics, are to be taken as any indication.

A survey of the marriages in the five smallest counties of the state shows that out of a total population of 5825, there were only 42 weddings. The marriage rate, according to Ross's automatic calculator, is .72 of one per cent.

Alpine county, with a population of 289, celebrated but one nuptial during the past year, the figures show. Other counties for which the statistics were prepared were:

Trinity, population 2227; marriages, 9.
Mono, population 474; marriages, 9.
Sierra, population 703; marriages, 11.
Mariposa, population 2235; marriages, 13.
Ross insists there is nothing he can do about it.

Missionary Will Speak on Japan At Kiwanis Club

Dr. William Axling, of Tokyo, Japan, will be the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club meeting at St. Ann's Inn tomorrow noon. It was announced today by the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church, program chairman.

The speaker's subject will be "The Friendly Relations Between Japan and the United States." "For 20 years Dr. Axling has been a distinguished representative of the Baptist church of America in Japan," the Rev. Mr. Russell said. "His friendly relations with men of all classes—students, teachers, officials, financiers and statesmen—his sympathetic knowledge of Japan's problems, and his insight into the better life and nobler aspirations of that virile, old-new Yamato race, render him an invaluable interpreter of that remarkable people."

Dr. Axling will speak tomorrow evening at the Baptist church on his work and experiences in Japan.

BRITONS CHEW GUM AS SUMMER SPORT

WASHINGTON, April 23.—They don't take their gum quite so seriously in England.

Chewing is a summer diversion, for the most part. Sales fall considerably with the approach of winter, according to a survey of European markets for confectionery by the department of commerce in England, Canada, the Near East and Africa.

American gum, pioneering in the jaw-exercising habit, has a firm hold on most markets. Some gum is made in England, but it doesn't affect the market for the American product.

France, Denmark and Scotland also consume large quantities of American gum, and Germany is said to be fast acquiring a taste for it.

Every nation eats much candy. The Africans like hard candies, while the Swedes buy more caramels and chocolates than anything else, the report said.

Other peculiarities necessary to the knowledge of exports included plain cardboard containers for the Latvians, and highly decorated boxes for the French and English. Americans have large opportunities in the world candy market, continental Europe being the only place where raw materials and cheap labor for local manufacturers make competition difficult, it was said.

The department of commerce suggested the value of advertising in order to popularize American confections abroad.

Firemen's Ball At Balboa Beach Set for Tonight

BALBOA, April 23.—The seventh ball of the firemen of Newport Beach, one of the classics of Balboa, will be staged tonight at the Balboa Pavilion, in what is considered by the sponsors as the banner affair of the season.

The fire ladders promise one of the best and biggest social events of the season and have completed elaborate plans for the celebration, which annually attracts hundreds from all sections of Orange county.

There are 14 volunteers in the department under the guidance of Fire Chief A. W. Jackson. All are business men of the community and every one freely contributes time and is at the call of the chief, night and day, no matter what they may be doing. They all have been connected with the department for more than eight years, while the annual ball has become an epic in affairs of this kind, while it has long been regarded as an institution of the department.

Of recent years it has been held at the Balboa Pavilion where as many as 1000 people have been entertained and where the general public is invited to attend. All the proceeds go to the benefit fund of the department. A number of unique stunts are promised for tonight.

GREAT FUTURE IS SEEN FOR TRADE PLANES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 27.—Airplane travel is the safest means of transportation that man has yet devised.

Lt. J. Parker Van Zant, cross-country flying expert, told the members of the engineering department of the Sheffield Scientific school, Yale university, during a lecture on "Air Transportation."

Lieutenant Van Zant believes the airplane is safer than the railroad, because it has no grade crossings, sharp corners or other obstructions of land travel and because airplanes can fly at any level thus avoiding heavy traffic congestion along any one line.

While admitting that at present the only successful system of air transportation operating in the United States is the mail service, Lieutenant Van Zant said that the near future would see the development of other lines until we pass Europe in commercial aviation.

"Many people are discouraged and disappointed with the airplane, because so much was expected of it immediately after the World War. It must be realized that during the war aviation was proceeding at a forced pace. Between 1914 and 1918 truly remarkable results were achieved. Whereas previous to 1914 an airplane was a novelty to most people by 1918 planes had become a common sight."

After the war there was bound to be a slackening of air development. As a result of the past six years of careful and sure development, however, we are now on the threshold of an industrial area of flying. During the period to come airplanes will assume many of the functions of motors and railroads.

In order to further speed up this development many European governments have subsidized airplanes. As a result Europe has a large number of air lines in successful operation and great interest has been shown by private concerns in increasing the facilities of air transportation.

"Americans have pointed to the large number of airlines in Europe as indicating the relative backwardness of the United States, where there are no regular lines except those of the air mail service. But the situation across the ocean must be carefully interpreted when applied to American conditions. Though it has done little as yet, the United States is far better suited for air development than Europe."

"The experience of Europe and the United States mail service indicate that planes can be used for transportation more safely than the railroads. The airplane will also be important for the time it will save. The growing efficiency of the airplane is not a fancy but a fact, and we are on the threshold of phenomenal development in air transportation."

FILMS REVEAL WAY TO BETTER HEALTH

CHICAGO, April 23.—Films showing germs in action are to be displayed at the annual session of the American Medical association at Atlantic City, May 25 to 29, it was announced here.

A film prepared by Dr. Alexis Carrell of the Rockefeller institute, one-time Nobel prize winner, will reveal the growth of a living human cell outside the body as done experimentally by him in tubes of culture media.

A film prepared by Dr. Clark Pinnerud, Chicago, will show the development of ring-worm on the skin, the methods by which the physician finds the ring-worm and the various procedures used to heal such lesions.

A special exhibition will be devoted to children poisoned by lye or suffering from other destructive injuries to the throat. Another will be given over to heart disease.

Most of the social welfare and health organizations of the country plan to exhibit their work in the scientific section.

The American Society for the Control of Cancer and the American Social Hygiene have planned to demonstrate their work in the motion picture section.

There will be 16 subdivided scientific sections, and 300 papers are to be read.

The president of the association, Dr. William D. Haggard, Nashville, Tenn., will be inaugurated at the session, and his opening address will point out the way physicians of the country may aid the public health by special work.

"I take it to town every day and have a man to drive it for me."

"This regular, comfortable, dependable, ever-ready transportation costs me an average of $9 per month (I live 13 miles out of Los Angeles). No depreciation, no interest on capital invested, no oil, gasoline or repair expense."

"When I drove my motor car the same distance every day, it cost me $52 monthly—more than $600 a year—Pretty costly 'carfare'!"

"Yes and I save more than money. Now I save the 'nerve strain' of driving through congested traffic, the worry of delays."

"Instead I read my paper and relax after breakfast and before dinner at night which has improved my digestion 100%."

"I'm not so tired. I work better and feel fit for evening fun."

"I get regular daily exercise—voluntarily walking three or four blocks to and from a more distant corner than I need to reach to get my Red Car—that has made me feel like a new man. Before, I never walked anywhere and was sluggish and dull."

"Now I use my car on holidays and Sundays and enjoy it twice as much, leaving it at home on week days for my wife to use for errands and shopping."

Just try this plan yourself for two weeks and note the difference in you, too.

These big Red Cars cost from $25,000 to $45,000 to build.

They are comfortable, clean and safe. They keep you out of traffic jams. Another does the driving—you can read.

Ebell Election Gives Next Presidency to Mrs. Stephenson

Despite the interruptions offered by her unavoidable hospital experience, the year's presidency of Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson of Ebell society has been so valuable and enjoyable to the members that her return to the office for another year was a foregone conclusion and was the chief event of interest at yesterday's annual election held in connection with the monthly program and meeting of the society.

In the absence of the president, who is convalescing at her Lacy street home, Mrs. S. W. Stanley, vice-president, presided very capably. Miss Gailene Finney, Mrs. Roy Horton and Mrs. W. H. Fairbanks were tellers and reported that Mrs. Stephenson was elected as president; Mrs. S. W. Stanley, first vice-president; Mrs. Horatio J. Forgy, second vice-president; Mrs. W. W. Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. N. A. Beals, treasurer; Mrs. F. H. Cloyes, corresponding secretary and Mrs. C. F. Smith, Mrs. M. A. Patton, Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mrs. Oliver Halsell, Mrs. Edward Walker and Miss Lida Crookshank, directors.

Among announcements made were those of Mrs. C. V. Doty regarding the Current Events dance on the evening of May-day; Mrs. William L. Deimling of the ways and means committee, telling of the children's matinee at the club-house next Saturday afternoon, also of the engagement of the Redlands University Glee club for Thursday night; Mrs. E. N. Blake, announcing the Delphinian society banquet for May 22; plans for a card party on the afternoon of May 23 and Mrs. J. E. Paul's account of the recent successful Garden bazaar in which the Garden section cleared $135.

Mrs. W. W. Crozier of Newport Beach reported two successful Reciprocity luncheons, that of the Santa Ana Woman's club and of the Orange Woman's club. Mrs. Norbert Lentz gave a clear and concise account of the county convention held last week at Fullerton Ebell club. The call for the state convention at Santa Cruz May 11, 20 and 21, was given and delegates appointed were Miss Minnie Childs, Mrs. J. R. Gowen, Mrs. Ruth Tiffany and Mrs. P. A. Marks, with Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. A. P. Nelson, Miss Norma Wingood and Miss Louise Tubbs as alternates.

Mrs. Robert C. Thall, retiring secretary, announced that she would send out letters to all delinquent members the first of next week and asked those who knew themselves to be in arrears if they would co-operate in making the task easier, by mailing a check to her for the amount, before the letters are sent out.

With business disposed of, the entertainment of the afternoon was given attention and Frayne Williams, well-known authority on matters literary, gave an enthralling talk on Anton Chekov and his books and plays. His analysis of the eminent Russian and of his literary work was a discriminating and enlightening one and held the close attention of his audience. Incorporated in his talk were readings from three of Chekov's plays including one scene from what Mr. Williams denominated as his magnum opus, "Cherry Orchard."

A humorous one-act play in which a married man and his bachelor friend took the leading roles, was quite well-received also and Mr. Williams proved to have a most entertaining dramatic ability.

Daughters of Veterans

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Daughters of Veterans anticipate a pleasant and profitable social affair when they will sponsor a silver tea at G. A. R. hall. Entertaining features will be Miss Maurie Hamill's kindergarten band from Spurgeon school, Master George Munro, reader, a group of Miss Putnam's dancers, and the Boys' Glee club from Frances Willard school. The public is urged to patronize the event which is for the benefit of the Daughters' Memorial home at Sawtelle.

Miss Martha Whitson New President of B. and P. W.

That Miss Martha Whitson will head Business and Professional Woman's club activities throughout the coming year, was decided without question a few weeks ago when expression of the feelings of the members was conveyed to the nominating committee. The committee therefore prepared a ticket for the annual election in which the excellent group of new officers was headed by the name of Miss Whitson for president and election last night at the annual meeting ratified that choice.

The meeting was an enjoyable affair in which election was practically the only business considered, the remainder of the program being purely social. The spacious home of the retiring president, Miss Mabel McFadden, was opened to the club and an enjoyable Spanish supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. Low bowls of sweet peas adorned the small tables where guests were seated in groups of four. The April entertainment committee, Miss Harriet Whidden, Miss Lee Patton and Mrs. Aimee Crawford, planned the menu and aiding in serving were several chosen from the club membership including the hostess, Miss McFadden, Miss Mayme Brightwell and Mrs. Alice Board.

During the brief business session conducted by Miss McFadden, the secretary's annual report was given by Miss Ethel Coffman who pointed out the varied activities of the club during the year just ended and emphasized in the minds of all the value of the programs which they were privileged to enjoy. The auditors' election reports were then read, with the officers named, Miss Whitson, president; Miss Alice Cole, first vice-president; Miss Harriet Whidden, second vice-president; Miss Hannah Marsden, secretary-treasurer; Miss Nancy Marshall, sergeant-at-arms; Miss McFadden and Miss Doris Robbins, directors.

Gracefully surrendering the gavel to Miss Whitson, the retiring president called upon her for a talk and Miss Whitson quite as gracefully centered her very brief remarks upon the splendid year under Miss McFadden and took the opportunity to present her an exquisite copy of Gainsborough's "Wood Gatherers" on behalf of the club.

Miss McFadden was asked to continue presiding until the evening's close, so introduced Miss Madeleine Moose as entertainer and that very charming young guest of the club, gave the members a delightful group of piano-logues in which the gamut of emotions was an exceedingly novel one. In which she left the room and Mrs. Helen Stedman took her place at the piano and as she swung into the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, Miss Moose re-entered the room bearing a white package which she presented to Miss Holly Lash.

Miss Lash will be the next club member to wed, her betrothal to Miss Visel having been recently announced, and the club's gift to her was a handsome luncheon set in Italian cut-work. Following her acceptance and the club's enjoyment of her pleasure in the gift, Miss Moose resumed her program, giving in succession, "Soap," "Love's Rosary," "Little Blita Sista," and "Comfort."

Anagrams and other lively group games occupied the remainder of one of the liveliest evenings the club has yet enjoyed. Sharing the pleasure of the event with the hostess Miss McFadden and her mother, Mrs. John McFadden were: Elaine Wharton, Nancy Marshall, Ethel Coffman, Ruth Ellis, Alice M. Cole, Laura L. Murray, Estelle M. Workman, Harriet Whidden, Helen Kubitz, Marie Folsell, Virginia Craig, Marie A. Fowler, Madeleine Moose, Margaret King, Holly Lash, Lee Patton, Mayme Brightwell, Alice Wasser, Martha J. Whitson, Helen Stedman, Eleanor Young Elliott, Elizabeth Perkins, Alice M. Board, Lydia M. McKinley Teachers Are Entertained At Dinner

A pleasant event of recent date was a prettily-appointed dinner given by Mrs. F. H. Helme of 820 West Fourth street, honoring the members of the teaching staff at McKinley school. In the dining-room, lavender and yellow iris was used effectively, and centered the table where guests were asked to find their places for the enjoyment of an elaborate chicken dinner.

Mrs. Helme had the assistance of a little group of co-hostesses in dispensing her hospitality. They were Mrs. J. R. Wilcox, Mrs. George Wheeler, Mrs. L. W. Lauderbach, Mrs. Helme is president of the McKinley P. T. A. and the teacher guests included Miss Mary Andrews, principal and the Meses Emma Hasty, Katherine Greer, Pauline Metts, Margaret Scott, Clarice Marx, Gertrude Potts, Alice Clarke, Artie Cleaveland, Gertrude Streets, Betty Newlands, Kathleen Carroll and Nadine McIntyre.

Children's Matinee

At Ebell Auditorium

With youngsters all over the city keenly interested in the plans for a matinee by children for children at Ebell auditorium next Saturday afternoon, Mrs. William L. Deimling, chairman of the ways and means committee sponsoring the event, has been called upon to reassure them as to their privilege of attending. For all children in the city, regardless of whether their mothers are Ebell members or not, may attend the matinee upon payment of the very small admission price.

In doing so, they will have an enjoyable afternoon, sweetened still more by the knowledge that their nickels and dimes will help bring happiness to the little people at the Day Nursery. For the affair is a benefit arranged for the nursery—all of whose little people will be among the happy youngsters present, by the way.

Mrs. L. L. Beaman (Estelle Card Beaman) will present her famous Peter Pan Players and Miss Carolyn Haughton will feature several talented child musicians among her piano pupils. Songs, piano numbers, in fact all manner of pretty features will be given and the program will begin at 2:30 o'clock instead of at 2 as was first announced.

Winter Visitors Have Pleasant Affairs To Honor Them

The departure this morning of a little group of Fairmont, Minn. folk, brought to a conclusion a series of extremely pleasant affairs which have marked the four months' stay of the winter visitors in Santa Ana. The group comprised Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kasper, their small daughter and son, Mary and Frank and Mrs. Kasper's mother and sister, Mrs. J. H. Gorman and Miss Millicent Gorman.

Mr. Kasper has spent only the past three weeks here, but the other members of the party have been here since January 1, making Santa Ana their headquarters but enjoying many pleasant jaunts to mountains and coast and the various points of interest of Southern California.

Last night the Fairmonts were entertained at a farewell event, a charming little dinner given for them by Mr. and Mrs. John G. Mitchell at their South Sycamore street home. Mrs. Mitchell used an artistic arrangement of Cecil Bruner buds to center her dining table and a delicious dinner was served. Miss Clarice Mitchell, daughter of the home, aided in hostess duties.

FINDS RELIEF FOR COUGHS

Mrs. Nancy Mather, Box 86, Richmond, Ohio, writes: "FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND is a fine medicine for coughs and colds, as it helped me when nothing else would." Mothers everywhere demand a reliable cough remedy free from injurious narcotics. Supplying this demand for fifty years made "FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND" one of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon FOLEY'S. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Betrothal News Is Made Public In Los Angeles

Hosts of friends in this city were keenly interested in the recently-made announcement of the engagement of Miss Katharine West, daughter of William Frederick West of South Pasadena, to Dr. Kenneth E. Smiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Smiley, 119 West Washington street, Santa Ana, a bridge tea given Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss West's sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles West and the secret was revealed when refreshments were served.

Dr. Smiley attended Occidental college where he was a member of the Owl and Key fraternity. He took his degree in medicine at Johns Hopkins university and was with the Mayo Brothers at Rochester for two years perfecting himself in his chosen branch of surgery.

His fiancée is also a graduate of Occidental where she was a member of Delta Omicron Pi sorority. The young people have made no announcement of the wedding date nor of their plans following the wedding, but it is supposed by their friends that they will make Los Angeles their home as Dr. Smiley is associated with a prominent surgeon of the Angel city.

Build Up a Personal Reserve

What would you think about a "Reserve Account" in the Farmers & Merchants?—a little account built up "on the side" to help take care of any sudden emergency?

Many people are often faced with an immediate necessity, or an opportunity to buy profitably, and without some ready cash in reserve, get into involved financial transactions.

Our suggestion is that you deposit, say, $25.00 a month into an account at the Farmers & Merchants which you will call your "Reserve Account." Let it grow—with 4% interest—then, some of these days you'll have a few hundreds on tap.

Banks are compelled to have large reserves—to keep them sound financially—why isn't the same thing good for individuals?

COUNCIL FACES LEGAL ACTION ON OIL DEPOT

In the opinion of some persons, Santa Ana today was precipitating legal proceedings through action of the city council last night in denying H. H. Harrington permission to locate an oil station on the northwest corner of Buffalo and Main streets.

It was intimated after the meeting that Harrington would take the matter to court for determination of the authority of the council to deny him the right to improve his property as he may choose.

There was a disposition by the council to favor such court action. "We might just as well fight this point out now as later," Mayor J. W. Tubbs was heard to remark. Protests to granting of the permit signed by 49 property owners on the street and in the vicinity of the location, were filed.

Bought for Station
Harrington was present and told the council that he bought the property with no other purpose in view than to establish an oil station. He said he had understood that residents on the street some two years ago virtually had declared themselves in favor of development of business on North Main and that, when he bought the property, he anticipated no trouble in securing a permit.

Pointing out that there are 11 stations between the intersection of El Portal and Main streets and First street, the mayor said that the council could not see that there was necessity for another such enterprise.

He directed attention to the fact that the site of the proposed gasoline dispensary was directly opposite the end of the "turnout" switch of the Pacific Electric Railway company and said there was possibility that operation of the station would be to the discomfort of traffic.

Jurisdiction Over Streets
"We have some jurisdiction over the streets," Tubbs said. "Cutting of curbs and sidewalks for approaches for stations is eliminating parking places and discommmoding the public," he added, in pointing out that stations are objectionable above other lines of business because of the space required to get in and out.

P. F. Mubine, who operates a popcorn stand at Fourth and Spurgeon streets, appealed to the council to grant him permission to continue his business at the corner for another year. He said that he was a cripple and unable to work, and that, if he had to shut down his stand after July 1, he would be seriously handicapped. In paying for a lot he has purchased on the installment plan. No action was taken on the appeal.

Another Station Application
Application of J. E. Livesey to establish an oil station on his property on the northwest corner of Fourth and Gurnsey streets was referred to Councilmen George McPhee, C. H. Chapman and Frank Purinton. The property is what is known as the old Reinhaus home. An application of Livesey for permission to move the 2-story residence to a lot near the northeast corner of Lacy and Stafford was referred to Councilman Purinton, Street Superintendent Nat Neff and Building Inspector W. S. Decker. The same committee was appointed on the request of the Lutheran church for permission to move its church building from Sixth and Van Ness to the northeast corner of Sixth and Gurnsey. Application of George C. Bondy for permission to establish a repair garage at his residence, 1063 West First street, was referred to McPhee.

Consideration of the application of the Pacific Electric for permission to raise rates on its local bus lines was continued to next Monday evening.

Will Permit City Sale Of Fireworks

The council last night dropped consideration of its proposed ordinance to prohibit sale of fireworks in Santa Ana.

Adoption of the ordinance was put over until after the Fourth of July, following declaration by Eli Springer, manager of the Sam Stein stationery store, that such action would cause his enterprise and other merchants of the city and county severe losses.

Springer said that orders for fireworks were placed early in January and could not be cancelled now, as the goods had been shipped from the factory.

CHESS EXPERTS OF LOS ANGELES BEAT SAN DIEGO

LAGUNA BEACH, April 23.—Los Angeles walked away with the inter-city chess match with San Diego, held Sunday in the Community clubhouse. The score was 16 to 2. Hitherto the matches have been played by telegraph, but hereafter the annual matches will be held here.

H. P. Wilkinson, of San Diego, won the only match for the Southwestern, when he checkmated E. R. Perry, of Los Angeles, after a Four Knights opening. M. P. Estrow and E. C. St. John won draws from S. Weinbaum and G. S. G. Patterson, thus giving San Diego its only points.

Modern chess was sidetracked for the day, all of the players choosing the more conservative old-fashioned game. The fans who enjoyed the play immensely, included Mrs. E. M. DeAnna, woman expert; Lieutenant C. H. Whipple, of Laguna Beach, a member of the Los Angeles team, who retired when San Diego failed to have an equal number of players; and Nicolas Kalliga, a Russian player.

In the following group the first named player, of the Los Angeles team, defeated the second named player, of the San Diego club:

Schrader-Freed; Mugridge-Pearson; Dr. Scholtz-Linder; Grabill-Brant; Bierwith-Downer; Steiner-Pitts; Batterson-Baker; Pinney-Kimball; Adland-Jordan; Austrian-Nelson; Junge-Gardner; Davis-Northridge; Holt-Jowett; Croy-Wetherbee; Anderson-Blotti.

The two draw games proved the most interesting, Estrow, St. John, Weinbaum and Patterson being experienced players.

GET TUGS READY FOR WORLD FLYER

SEATTLE, April 23.—Two sea-going tugs, chartered by the Argentine government, will leave Seattle within a few days for the coast of Japan to prepare landing places and store supplies for another world navigator.

Major Pedro L. Zanni, Argentine airman, is chafing at Tokyo, waiting to resume his flight around the world, while his advance representative, Patricio D. Murphy, is driving through difficulties here to obtain the necessary supplies and clear the way for his commander.

The tugs Canada and Imbricaria, 100-foot trawlers, will carry gasoline and supplies and establish landing posts in the Kurile islands and along the coast of Alaska.

Both will be equipped with power or radio apparatus that will keep them in touch with the American continent on the trip. The two tugs are having their engines overhauled here and will sail for the coast of Japan at once. The Imbricaria will go to Kobe and the Canada to Hakodate, 450 miles north. They are among the smallest vessels ever to be sent on such a long trip. Both were constructed in England in the early 90's and sailed via South Africa to British Columbia, where they were used as trawlers for some years and finally were purchased by the International Towing company of Vancouver, B. C.

MINISTER TELLS THIS
BOSTON, April 23.—A minister of Warren, Mass., insists this story is true. He said he found five or six large rats in his chicken coop with their tails so tangled together that they could not escape. He believes they twisted their tails together to pull another from a hole, from which it could not extricate itself.

OPEN RESERVED SEAT SALE FOR PILSEN PRINCE

The Orange County Choral union, which will present the "Prince of Pilsen" at the high school auditorium on May 5 and 6, is holding nightly rehearsals this week, putting the finishing touches on the production, which promises to set a new high mark in perfection of the performance for this popular organization. With the principals and chorus almost letter perfect in their various parts, the costumes and scenery all provided for, everything will soon be in readiness for the performances.

The reserved seat plan is now open at the Santa Ana book store. Appearing in one of the principal roles is Irma Huffman May, well known to Santa Ana audiences, having appeared in previous choral union productions and also with the Community Players. She has been assigned the role of "Edith," the leader of the Vassar girls, and she portrays the dashing and romantic character in true American style.

The title role of "The Prince of Pilsen" is taken by Alex Garroway, of Orange, perhaps one of the most popularly known tenors of Orange county. He has ample scope in the "Heidelberg Song" and other solo parts to display his voice to advantage. He carries his role in a dashing and convincing manner. In the second act, one of the ever popular songs, "The American Girl," the most important cities of the United States are represented by beautiful living models who introduce "Dixie," "Maryland," "I Love You, California," and other stirring melodies.

From present indications, the performance is to be greeted with crowded houses on both evenings and the public is advised to make reservations without delay. Tickets are in the hands of all the choral union members and the reserved plan is at the Santa Ana book store, 105 East Fourth street.

LONGEST TUNNEL
LONDON, April 23.—Britain will possess the longest tunnel in Europe when the scheme for carrying the waters of Loch Trief and Loch Laggan to a hydroelectric station at Fort William is completed. The tunnel will be 15 miles in length, two and a half miles longer than the Simpson tunnel, and in some places will be 2000 feet under the mountain.

Halliwell takes the part of Artie in the Prince of Pilsen, which will be presented by the Orange County Choral union at the high school auditorium on the evenings of May 5 and 6.

meets every taste in coffee

Your appetite may vary with the work or pleasure of your day—but your coffee-taste is always the same. Because your coffee-taste is you.

It is because people differ so in their coffee-tastes that MJB has worked for years to produce a coffee blend of constant flavor.

MJB is a top-crop coffee from first bean to final blend. Yet it is really many-coffees-in-one. Each coffee is used for a special quality-reason. Some contribute aroma. Some bring "body." But the final flavor is the same each time.

And it is this never-fail-to-be-the-same flavor that has made MJB stand for coffee contentment. Drink it as you will—strong, mild or in-between—with cream or without—the same rich, full-bodied flavor will always be there to greet you. But the strength per cup is up to you—to your taste in coffee.

Vacuum packed by a special process invented and owned by MJB. This keeps the coffee full-strength and flavor-fresh always!

WILL PROVIDES FOR FINANCIAL REWARD

Local Merchant Befriended Stranger 15 Years Ago
In San Antonio, Texas

Andrew J. Harby, shoe merchant, at 118 East Fourth street, soon will receive financial reward for assistance he gave a stranger at San Antonio, Tex., 15 years ago, it became known here today, with receipt of information from New York that he had been left $500 by William Case Parsons, who died there on Sept. 21, 1924.

The will has just been admitted to probate in surrogate court in New York and it is anticipated distribution will be made in a short time.

Harby does not know how much of any estate his benefactor left, but believes it to be in excess of $100,000. After bequests are paid, the remainder of the estate is to be divided equally between the Salvation Army, the Hospital and House of Rest for Consump-tives, the New York Association for the Blind, and the Society for the Relief of Destitute Blind of the city of New York.

Harby said that when he was in San Antonio, in 1910, he met Parsons in a restaurant and a friendship sprang up between them. Parsons later became ill and Harby looked after him, sending him to a hospital and taking care of him after he left the institution. He presumes that Parsons bequeathed him $500 in appreciation of the services he rendered at that time.

Parsons accumulated his fortune in general merchandising in New York. He was unmarried.

a majority of the press and public is agreed some action is neces-

Most of the Paris newspapers described the result of the German blamed the allied policy of confi-forth France must act drastically.

BAND LEAVES FOR ARIZONA TO FILL DATE

The Santa Ana municipal band, composed of 50 expert musicians
under direction of Caesar Cianfonti, left this afternoon for Phoenix, Ariz., to fill a week's engagement at the new Joyland park there.

In addition to top salaries, all expenses of the local men are being paid by the Phoenix people. Headquarters will be at the new Arizona hotel.

Decision to invite the Santa Ana band to Phoenix was reached after the chamber of commerce at Phoenix and the management of the Joyland park had investigated musical organizations throughout the middle west and on the Pacific coast.

Seventy-five numbers will be played during the engagement and among them will be "The Barber of Seville," "Cavalleria Rusticana,"
"Second Hungarian Rhapsody," "Il Trovatore," "Sextet from Lucia," "Quartet from Rigoletto," "Trio from Attila," "Carmen," "Faust," "La Sonnambula," "Carnevala di Venezia."

The organization going to the Arizona city is complete. The soloists are Lorenzo Valente, Domenico
De Nisi, Nicolas Rega, Andren Giampaolo, Emilio Barilotti, and Emilio Viola. Newcomers to the band are Agostino Pestolesi and Marco Giampaolo.

This is the first time the local musical organization has been invited to fill an engagement in another city. The trip of the band will provide invaluable advertising for this community, it was pointed out today.

The high type of music rendered by the band has attracted widespread attention throughout the southwest. It is expected that, following the Arizona trip, the musicians will be invited to other places. The band has already been asked to play at the district convention of the Lions clubs at San Diego in May, and it is probable that the musicians also will be asked to attend the national convention of the Lions.

The band members will return home May 4.

Rival Teams In Campaign
Met With Much Success, Leaders Report

The junior chamber of commerce will have 500 new members when the membership campaign, started a short time ago, comes to a close next Monday night, according to reports made at the directors' session at Ketter's cafe, yesterday noon.

The two membership teams, headed by William Iverson and James Rhine, have met with unusual success, it was reported. Rivalry is keen between the teams and thus far they are running neck and neck, it was declared. The losing side will treat the winners to a dinner.
A delightful program of entertainment is being arranged for the meeting Monday evening. The committee arranging the program consists of E. M. Sundquist, chairman, J. M. Hubbard, Bert Eldridge, Paul
Gilbert and John Newcomer.

Suggestion that the junior chamber sponsor several athletic teams, such as bowling, indoor baseball and basketball, was discussed by the directors. It was decided to present the matter at the general meeting Monday.

A letter was read from Stanley
Clem, president of the organization, who is at Santa Barbara resting, stating that he is getting better and expects to soon return to Santa Ana.

A referendum of the parents of 20,000 public school children in Wilmington will be taken by the

This decision was reached by

by many mothers that the setting

The mothers assert they have to dren, then for their fathers.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23.—
Dr. John W. Wilce, head football

This is the second offer from siderable financial terms that Wilce is giving it serious consideration.

Wilce came to Ohio state in

Rousselle Writes About Curious Customs Observed In South Seas

Loading of ships with crude rubber of women at Singapore, and carrying of water for sprinkling lawns and for sprinkling streets by men at Weltevreden Batavia, are a few of the sights seen at these two places by Mr. and Mrs. A. B.
Rousselle, who are touring the Orient and Europe.

The travelers are having a wonderful time, despite the fact that they have encountered very hot weather, according to Rousselle, who makes reference to the trip in a letter written to a friend, and received today.

Reciting conditions in hotels at Weltevreden, Rousselle says that
"one finds all kinds of life in his room when he turns on the lightlizards and bugs too numerous to describe, but apparently harmless, ants, fleas, etc."

Continuing, he says: "Servants in the hotels dress in white and go without shoes. In fact, shoes are worn only by guests, proprietors and their assistants and newspapersmen, who are English and American."

"Stores close at 11 a. m., and open at 5 p. m."

"It is quite a sight to go along the rivers that run through the city in all directions and see the girls washing clothes in a muddy river, the river also being used for bathing. When a steamer arrives, all laundry is given out to the rivers. It comes back clean, as they pound it on rocks instead of using washboards. I suppose the system is all right, but I prefer to have my work done by a Santa Ana laundry."

FORMER SANTA ANA WOMAN LOSES BABE

Sympathy of friends was today expressed to Mr. and Mrs.
Farwell P. Hull, of Hollywood, whose baby son died from the effects of pneumonia, Sunday morning, April 22. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery yesterday, following short services at the chapel in the cemetery.

Mrs. Hull was Miss Ramona Clevenger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
W. C. Cleveland, 809 West Pine street, and has hosts of friends in this city, where her girlhood was spent. The baby son, Farwell P.
Hull Jr., would have been one year old in May. A happy, healthy baby, he had been the joy of his parents and brother Duane, all his brief life until a few weeks ago, when his illness from pneumonia made it advisable to take him to the children's hospital in Los Angeles.

The illness, which was treated and 10 days ago the baby was dismissed from the hospital as cured.
However, a relapse came and, although the baby was taken back to the hospital, where every effort

RECLUSE WILL ABANDON BEACH HOVEL AND MOVE BECAUSE OF PUBLIC GAZE

Thomas Watson, hermit, who resides near the mouth of the Santa Ana river, in a cleverly concealed home. Flowers and bushes are grown around his unique home, which is built mostly of driftwood. At the right is one of the three small houses in his little enclosure. It is the cookhouse.

CURIOUS CAUSE HERMIT TO ABANDON HIS HOME IN SAND DUNES; WILL GO TO MEXICO

AFTER spending years virtually in seclusion, because he has an abhorrence of civilization, Thomas Watson, 78, a hermit living near the mouth of the Santa Ana river, not far from Huntington Beach, on the coast of Orange county, was today preparing to evacuate the cleverly concealed home which he has built.

For 17 years, he has occupied a small enclosure hidden by sand dunes and brush. Few knew the location of the place. Now the state highway passes within 50 feet of the little home. "There are too many visitors now, I am going to move," Watson declared. He is going to Mexico.

Around his home he has built a stockade. Everyone is welcome in the tiny home. Friends who have come from time to time to live with him always have found a warm welcome. He has even built two additional houses in the enclosure to accommodate them.

When Watson came to his home
by the river, amid the sand dunes, he was ill, and doctors had little hope he would regain his health.
He lives on fish, which he catches, vegetables, which he buys at the market, mostly beans, mushrooms, and water cress, which he gathers in the river. Now he is hale and hearty. He never shaves nor has his hair cut. He does not smoke

FAMILY NIGHT TO BE FEATURE AT Y

Thursday evening will be "family night" at the Y. M. C. A. A special committee in charge, headed by C. H. Marcher, who is assisted by Burton O. Baird, L. J.
Bean, L. W. Slaback, J. P. Williams, R. R. Price and M. B. Youel.
The committee promises an evening of informal sociability, with a short program, music and refreshments.

The evening's entertainment will start at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium, where the regular senior gymnasium class will entertain with its usual line of activities. At 8:45, the audience will be invited to assemble in the lobby, where the more formal part of the program will be given.

According to C. H. Marcher, chairman of the committee in charge, it is the purpose not only to bring together the members of the association and their families for a social time, but also to invite others who are not well acquainted with the city or in the association, to come in and meet people.
Newcomers and strangers in the city are most especially urged to be present. They will find this a splendid opportunity to get acquainted with new friends, as well as to meet the old ones again, it is asserted.

WILL GIVE SOUTH
FLAG FOR SWORD

HARTFORD, Conn., April 23.—
The torn and tattered battle-flag of the "Louisiana Tigers," Tenth Louisiana volunteers of the Confederate army, will be returned to its owners after having been in possession of the "enemy" for 60 years.

The Connecticut legislature suspended its rules and passed a bill appropriating $1000 to pay the expenses of a committee of the Connecticut Grand Army, who will carry the banner to New Orleans.

In return, the Louisiana Confederate veterans will present to the Connecticut delegation the sword of Col. Ledyard Colburn of the Twelfth Connecticut volunteers, which was captured during the civil war by the southern troops.

Elaborate plans are being made for the trip and the ceremonies attendant to the exchange, which Ira R. Wildman, department commander of the G. A. R., characterized as "another symbol of the friendship that is being cemented between the north and the south."

BRIEFS TO BE SUBMITTED IN CHAPMAN CASE

Briefs, supplementing oral argument, will be submitted to Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, in whose hands today rested the fate of Edward S. Ward's $11,200 demand upon the public coffers of Fullerton and three other unnamed cities of Orange county.

After attorneys for both sides had summed up the case of C.
Stanley Chapman's petition for an injunction against payment of a $2800 demand by the city of Fullerton, Judge Williams late yesterday ordered briefs to be filed. Chapman is allowed 15 days for the opening brief, Ward has an equal period for answer, and Chapman gets an additional 10 days for rebuttal. Should these full periods be occupied, it will be nearly two months before a ruling is received.

Ward's demand upon the city of Fullerton comprises a one-fourth share of its entire bill for detective services prior to the liquor raids last November. He has indicated that similar demands will be made upon three other cities, but has not named the cities. They are thought to be Anaheim, Santa Ana and Huntington Beach, where the raiding activities centered.

Chapman attacked the demand upon Fullerton on the ground that it is illegal.

of the organization; former Congressman Charles H. Randall is executive secretary.

Adventure of America.
The opening session, May 5, has been listed as a mass meeting. Dr.
Edwin C. Dinwiddie will speak on "America's Amazing Adventure."

Local speakers on the program May 6 are C. N. Mozley, chief deputy prosecuting attorney; Dr.
F. T. Porter, pastor of the Christian church; J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools; and Mrs. N.
H. Leonard, wife of a prominent Y.
M. C. A. worker, and herself actively interested in temperance activities.

The foundation speakers, it was announced by the local committee on arrangements, will stress the fact that continued violation of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law must mean the final breakdown of government with in-recoverable damage to civilization and American institutions.

The announcement states further that the testimony of judges, prosecutors and others interested in the maintenance of law and order is to the effect that the greatest danger is in the seeming indifference of the people.

Here is the platform of the Flying Squadron foundation:

"Ours is a government of the people.

"The eighteenth amendment is its verdict against the liquor traffic.

"Political parties and leaders are

FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE AT YOST TONIGHT

Five acts of Junior Orpheum vaudeville is scheduled for presentation at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow. A resume of the program follows:

Harvey, Henry and Grayce, are three talented performers who can be relied on to highly entertain an audience with their clever musical oddity, which they call "Brassies and Brasses." It consists of smart comedy talk and instrumental musical efforts so intermingled as to make the offering one of the best in vaudeville.

Mike, Carmen and Nicky present a decided novelty containing the proper amount of comedy that is satisfying. Their specialty contains a bit of vaudeville entertainment which makes their offering laughable from start to closing.

"Charge it to Dad" is intended to illustrate the humorous and also the serious side of the conditions in the rural districts. The characters are: an Indiana farmer who sends his son to college, the college boy and the girl. After returning from a season at school it is evident that the boy has picked up a lot of expensive notions and assumes the attitude that his family and friends are "hicks." This attitude is quickly knocked out of him by his father and many highly amusing situations are developed.

When it comes to an exclusive repertoire of character songs the cake goes to Louis London, who offers a series of character song studies. Two of his songs were written by the late lamented Jack London, "West" and "The Toast of the Vagabond."

Evelyn Melbourne with her associates bring to the stage all the trials and tribulations of a motion picture aspirant in the comedy sketch, "Putting It Over." The members of the cast have all been "through the mill" as each one in one time or another has played important roles on the screen.

WALKER—"The Mad Whirl," with May McAvoy.
WEST END—"The Re-Creation of Brian Kent," with Helene Chadwick.

"THE MAD WHIRL" OPENS AT WALKER'S

Something new in directorial phraseology was used while making "The Mad Whirl," all star production which will be screened in Walker's theater commencing today. And the new phraseology made a distinct hit with the players, not only was it effective in conveying meaning but it was happily reminiscent as well.

"The Mad Whirl" was adapted from "Here's How," a sensational story of modern life written by Richard Washburn Child, former minister to Italy, and such is the name the picture went by while it was in the making. So, the director, instead of using the customary announcement "All ready folks," to notify the players and others interested that everything was in readiness to "shoot," would say "Here's How," and players, assistants, electricians, cameramen and others attending the company know that the scene was ready for filming.

The picture was made by a big cast of favorites. May McAvoy has the feature role, and others in the cast are Jack Mulhall, Myrtle Stedman, Barbara Bedford, Alec B. Francis, Ward Crane, George Fawcett, Marie Astaire and Joseph Singleton.

"BRIAN KENT" IS FILM OF INTEREST, SUSPENSE

"The Re-Creation of Brian Kent," from the story of that title by Harold Bell Wright, is showing at the West End theater. Readers of the book, considered one of the most popular of that author's widely read works, will find that it has been actually translated to the screen, so true to type is the entire cast.

The picture is a masterpiece of human interest and suspense. It is replete with thrills. It is wonderful entertainment, clearly conveyed and leaving in one a desire to help others and make of the world a better place in which to live. It emphasizes the old adage that it is never too late to begin again. In other words it insills in everyone who sees it the message which that super craftsman of writers stresses in all of his books.

Kenneth Harlan, who is rapidly ascending to the highest peak in filmdom's constellation of stars, is said to do the greatest work of his phenomenal screen career as Brian Kent.

Helene Chadwick interprets the role of Betty Jo with a wonderful appreciation of the American business girl, of warm heart and sympathetic understanding but with too much common sense to let her emotions sway her good judgment.

TELEPHONE SUPERVISOR

Tells of the Benefit Received by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leavenworth, Kansas.—"My work was long-distance operating and supervising, and I got into a very nervous state and was all run-down. I was easily annoyed at trifles, was extremely nervous and always had a tired feeling which made me awfully listless. Through a newspaper I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thinking it would help me I tried it. It quieted my nerves, I was less annoyed and more lively. It took away that dragging feeling and improved my health in every way. I was able to continue my work with more vigor than before and I recommend the Vegetable Compound to all young girls. I am married now and have a big baby boy and am in the best of health. If I should ever have any trouble I'll take the Vegetable Compound again, for I know it will help me as it did before."

"EAST OF BROADWAY" NOW AT YOST

To the stereotyped question, "How did you happen to go into pictures," Betty Francisco, who interprets one of the prominent roles in "East of Broadway," the production being shown at the Yost theater, quite frankly confesses that she was "shoved" into them.

Content with her career on Broadway, where she had appeared in "Maytime," and as a prominent attraction of the Midnight Frolic, Century Grove and Ziegfeld Folies, this blonde beauty of or and artist for whom she sometimes posed, that she possessed the features and other requirements that could be utilized to advantage before the camera.

In desperation at her indifference, the artist finally one day railed a taxi cab, and gently but firmly ushered his model into it, whereupon the driver was directed to take them to the office of Samuel Goldwyn, well-known producer and one of the most earnest advocates of new faces for the films.

CONSTIPATION means MELANCHOLY and DISEASE

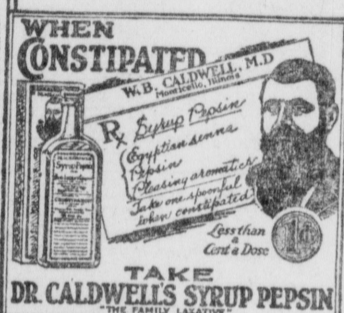

Melancholy for the Mother, disease for the Child! The responsibility of the mother does not end with properly clothing and feeding the baby. Her own health is directly reflected in the little one, and the poisons bottled up in her body by constipation transfer themselves to the innocent child and too often result in serious sickness. Mother's bowels should act at least twice a day, and baby's bowels more frequently. Physicians agree on this subject.

Dr. Caldwell's

SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—relieves constipation. It is a pure, harmless, gentle combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics in liquid form that opens up the bowels, and promotes and encourages Nature to perform her proper functions. No doctor could give you a better laxative than this one of Dr. Caldwell's which has been used for over thirty years.

As Pleasant, Easy and Effective
For Mother as For Baby

It is mild and wholly free from opiates or narcotics. Because it is so pleasant to take, babies and children like it, and it should be in the medicine chest of every family for instant use. More than 10,000,000 bottles used annually prove its effectiveness.

LIONS PREPARE FOR BIG MEET IN SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, April 28.—Representatives from every Lions club in California and Nevada will be in attendance at the sixth annual convention of the fourth district, Lions International, to be held here May 26, 27 and 28.

Howard F. Worth, convention chairman, and Phinias S. Packard, vice chairman, with their committees, have been working constantly for the last three months to make the gathering one of the most successful ever held on the Pacific coast. Word has been received from Fred J. Johns, district governor and Jack Riley, deputy district governor, that great enthusiasm has been manifested by the members of every club in the district, and that expressions have been made to attend the convention 100 percent.

Clarence Litt, secretary of San Diego den, also has received assurances from officials of every den that large delegations of Lions, with their wives and other women folk, are looking forward with pleasure to their visit to San Diego as guests of the local den.

Streets to Be Decorated
Arrangements have been made by the decoration committee to have San Diego, during convention week, decorated with American flags, elaborate Lion emblems and colors and vari-colored electric light festoons arched over the street intersections and lighted at night. Every business house will be festooned and the decorations will extend for three miles from the union station.

R. B. Thorburn, chairman of the hotel committee, has arranged for ample and comfortable housing of every visiting guest. The U. S. Grant hotel will be the hotel headquarters and the civic auditorium the main convention headquarters.

Features of the convention will comprise inspirational speeches by the foremost speakers of the district; five-minute talk contest; song contest; competitive stunts; golf tournaments; swimming races and baseball games.

Banquet to Be Feature
The entertainment committee has arranged an attractive program and the grand ball and banquet, to be given the closing night of the convention, promises to be one of the largest and most pretentious affairs ever attempted on the Pacific coast. Three truck loads of dishes and silverware valued at more than $3000 have been purchased outright to assure the successful serving of the banquet.

Mrs. Howard F. Worth, chairman of the women's reception and entertainment committee, has appointed her committee chairman, selecting many women famed for their entertaining ability and hospitality, who are arranging three days' of unsurpassed entertainment.

The San Diego Lions club expects to make the sixth annual convention the most successful ever held in the history of the organization, with the view of having every visitor leave with the deepest regret that he cannot stay longer, and with the memory that the members of the San Diego den know how to entertain.

Not Hollywood this time, but Culver City, other suburb of Los Angeles, which has budded forth with a luxurious crop of movie production.

Here are located three large studios. There is Hal Roach, producer of comedies from which many have gone forth to more serious drama; Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, with many production units and Cecil B. De Mille, whose star-making methods at Lasky's have now been transferred by him to Culver City.

Plenty of Opportunities
De Mille is not of those who consider the motion picture industry closed to those unknowns with ability. "There is no other industry in which true ability may be so easily recognized—and rewarded," he says.

De Mille is reviving the stock company idea, and those getting such contracts, even though at no more than $50 a week, are assured of a steady income during their breaking-in period.

In his early Lasky days, De Mille originated the stock company idea. And from his company graduated such luminaries as Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson, Wallace Reid, Thomas Meighan, Bebe Daniels, and countless others.

Now, announced intention being for a company of 20 to 30, De Mille has a nucleus of some 15, a few already established, others less well known.

In this group are Leatrice Joy, Rod LaRocque, Florence Vidor, Vera Reynolds, Robert Edeson, Lillian Rich, Julia Rye, Edmund Burns, Sally Rand, Barbara Bedford, Majel Coleman, Lewis Natheaux and William Boyd.

Rise to Fame
As many of these doubtless are destined for glories untold in the near future, methods by which their chance came may illustrate the fortuitous of this western Bagdad.

Lillian Rich, possibilities fathomed, was carefully groomed through a series of lesser pictures to wear good clothes well. Then she was featured in "The Golden Bed."

Vera Reynolds, enchanting handler of roles in "The Golden Bed," "Shadows of Paris," and other pictures, riveted De Mille's attention originally by failing to exclaim, "Oh, I know my hair's all mussed up," when asked to remove her hat for facial examination.

Edmund Burns and Lewis Natheaux, chosen from among extras to play bits that ordinarily

RETURNS TOWN CHARITY AFTER THIRTY YEARS

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., April 24.—Mrs. Ellie Carroll, wife of a rubber factory worker of Middletown, sacrificed $38.50 of a pitiful $50 legacy to erase a 30-year-old stain of pauperism from her family's name.

Clutching her legacy check tightly, Mrs. Carroll, a workman's little woman, appeared before Town Clerk Charles S. Bynon.

"Back in 1895," she said, "father turned up missing, and because we were poor my mother had to ask the town for alms. It was a cold winter and the family was hungry before she asked. Altogether she had $38.50 from the town. I want to pay it back with interest."

Clerk Bynon showed his surprise. He explained that it wasn't necessary, or even customary to repay alms. But she insisted, assuring him that she always had intended to repay the debt. The opportunity had come only when a distant relative remembered her in his will.

"I always intended to pay you," said Mrs. Carroll proudly. "Now no one can say the Kilmartins were paupers."

Mr. Bynon finally agreed to accept $38.50, telling the woman, however, that the accrued interest would bring the sum to triple the size of her check.

It Paid to Stop Majel Coleman once interviewed De Mille, with no definite result. The incident apparently was closed. Weeks later she picked from

SOUVENIRS OF GENERAL GRANT ON EXHIBITION

Of particular historic value, and at the same time greatly interesting, is a unique window display at the Besser store, 215 1-2 West Fourth street, where are scores of pictures and souvenirs of various kinds pertaining to the last illness of Gen. U. S. Grant.

The pictures, probably the only set of the kind in the world, belong to the Besser family. The pictures were collected by Frank W. Mack, former Santa Ana man, and a cousin of Mrs. Katie A. Besser, 201 East Sixth street. Mack "covered" the Grant funeral for the Associated Press, being superintendent of the eastern division. He was stationed at Mt. McGregor, near Saratoga, N. Y., where General Grant died.

There are 45 pictures in the display. One of the portraits of Grant shows him sitting in his favorite chair on the porch of his home on the mountain, only two days before his death. He looked old, broken and tired. Other pictures show the bed in which the general died, and his favorite chair.

Pictures of the funeral train, of near relatives of the general, and of many interesting things connected in a small way with the days just prior to Grant's death, make up the collection.

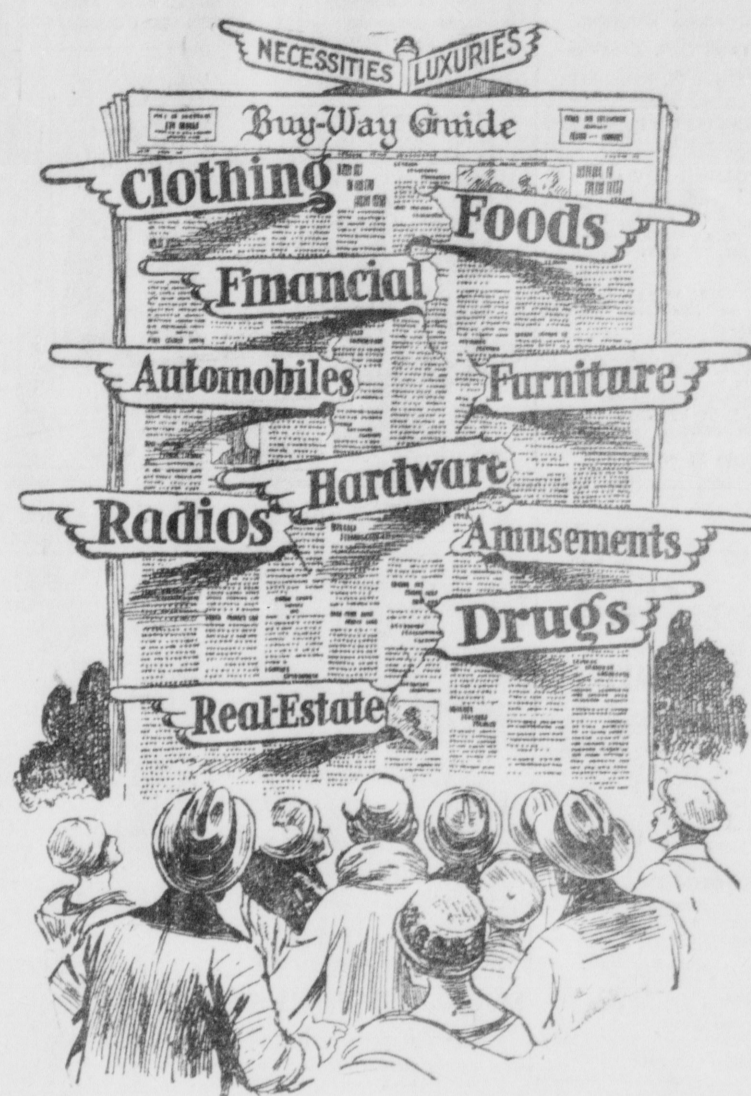

In the display, there is also a first page of an issue of the Cleveland Leader, which carried the death story of General Grant. It was the afternoon paper of the city, printed Friday July 24, 1885.

Probably one of the most interesting things in the window display is the last page of a letter written by General Grant, two days before his death, which tells of his inability to sleep.

Mr. Mack and representatives of two New York papers were the only correspondents on the mountain at the time of the death of the former president. Mack went on the lecture platform in later years and became known throughout the country. He was at the top of his profession as a newspaperman. "It was Mack who wrote for the press of the world the description of the first execution by electricity," said the Baltimore American, almost two score years ago.

The street a dog whose leg had been broken by a passing machine. Her heart went out to the creature, wretched with pain and howling in misery. A machine stopped and its passenger offered to carry her and the dog to an animal hospital. And the O. Henry of fate wrote that this passenger should be De Mille! As all good stories should end, this ended with a contract and in this much, happiness.

We think of railroads, telephones, the telegraph, the wireless, but how about want ads?

They are in the same class. It used to be when a man wanted help he had to ask among his friends where he could get a good stenographer, bookkeeper, etc. TODAY he puts in a want ad and tomorrow he has only to choose from a dozen or more.

He has a house to rent—a want ad rents it—he has a house to sell—a want ad sells it.

He has furniture to sell—a want ad brings many buyers.

SECTION THREE

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 28, 1925

PAGES THIRTEEN TO EIGHTEEN

Billy Evans Says

American league pitchers tell you that the low ball is the present weakness of George Sisler at the bat.

The emphasize the fact that the curve, broken inside and at the knee, is the pitcher's greatest weapon to curtail Sisler's batting prowess.

George Sisler is being fed a diet of low-ball pitching, inside and outside. Despite this, he is hitting the ball consistently and seems to have much more power to his drive than last season.

In recent game, after Sisler had twice hit safely in successive times at bat, connecting with the low curve on the inside, I remarked:

"The pitchers seem to think you don't like the low ball, George."

"They have another guess coming," he replied. "You know as well as I do that the low ball is a troublesome to any player. It is a hard ball to hit squarely."

"However, if the pitchers continue to pitch low to me all year I am positive I will bat well over 300."

"You know it is much easier to hit when you know just what to expect. When I step into the box I am reasonably sure the pitcher is going to pitch low, unless he loses control."

If Sisler continues to hit the low ball as he has during the first few weeks of play, American league pitchers will be forced to revamp their system.

Although the American league season is just getting under way, Eddie Collins in his new role as manager, is convinced that the pitching problem is a big league boss' greatest concern.

After a game in which Collins was forced to make four pitching shifts to win a game in which his club scored 11 runs, he remarked to me:

"Now I can understand what managers meant, when after a tough game they remarked, that battle just took a year of my life."

"While I have always realized the great importance of pitching, yet it is never quite so apparent to the mere player as manager."

"In a ticklish situation you are confronted with many conflicting doubts. In an effort not to burn up your pitching staff you want to gamble as long as you can with a wavering pitcher."

"And regardless of what you decide to do the second guess, in a great many instances, makes your judgment look faulty."

"It is already evident to me that my job of handling pitchers is perhaps more important to the success of the Sox than my second base play."

The Chicago White Sox finished last in the American league in 1924. It isn't going to land there this season if Collins gets any kind of pitching.

It would occasion no great surprise if Bibb Falk's brother, "Spot," followed in the footsteps of the brilliant White Sox outfielder.

Bib came to the Chicago club as a pitcher. He early showed that he could hit the ball and was very fast. He was made into an outfielder and is now one of the best in the American league.

Bib's brother is a member of the St. Louis Browns. This is his first year in the majors. He is taller than his older brother, but built along the same lines and has a similar style in the field and at the bat.

The younger Falk comes to the majors as a pitcher. Like Bib, he can hit the ball. So it is not unlikely that he will some day be gracing the outfield of the Browns. Hitters are always in demand as regulars.

Kid Norfolk Says His Eyesight O. K.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 28.—Kid Norfolk, New York negro boxer, was attempting today to prove that he is not blind in one eye and is, therefore, competent to box in California. His manager, Frank Tabor, and Norfolk are dissatisfied with the ruling of the California Boxing commission barring him from fights in this state because of poor eyesight.

Olympic Champions Help Open World's Largest Swim Pool

Mickey Walker Is Arrival In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—Mickey Walker arrived in Los Angeles Monday hunting Jack Kearns, who it is reported is dickering to take the champ under his exclusive management. The contract, it is stated, will cover both fistic and film activities engaged in by Mickey.

Kearns, it is reported, plans to use Mickey quite extensively in a series of flight pictures he has in mind.

M'FADDEN CO. TO OPPOSE GAS SQUAD TONIGHT

Nelson and Wilcox, Crack Pitchers of Circuit, to Hook Up at Poly Field

Holding an undisputed grasp on first place in the Santa Ana Indoor Baseball league with an unbroken row of four victories the John McFadden Hardware company team faces its most important task of the season at the Poly grounds tonight.

The schedule calls for the McFaddens to meet the Southern Counties Gas company squad and the hundreds of fans who have been following the indoor game title contest here don't need to be told that the Southern Counties Gas company is "plenty strong."

Both sides are blessed with some fine hitters and an array of nifty fielders but the chances are pretty fair that there won't be a need for much fielding and that there won't be a whole lot of hitting.

In "Eeny" Wilcox and Wayne Nelson, the rivals have two of the premier underhand twirlers in these parts. Both are speed-ball artists and whenever they are right the scoreboard man is kept busy recording the strikeouts. Wilcox has one no-hit and one two-hit game to his credit, already this year and Nelson pitched a one-hit squabble early in the season.

The largest turnout of the season is expected. The game will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Al Sanford will umpire.

The Roehm-Sylvester, hard-luck champions of the circuit, enjoyed a turning of the tide in last night's league argument. Overcoming a four run lead, the tobacco dispensers walloped the slugging Southern California Edison by a score of 9 to 6. This was the first victory of the year for the Roehm-Sylvester, but judging from the way they hit "Jug" Walters in the late stages of the conflict it won't be their last win.

Eddie Linsendard went the full route for the winners with Lory Roehm catching him. Walters and Archer did battery service for the Pole-Climbers.

Charge Two With Assault, Robbery; Victim May Die

YUMA, Ariz., April 28.—R. L. Bigelow, 24, and H. A. Calhoun, 23, of Phoenix, have been arrested here for assault and robbery of James Ray, 60, at Holtville, Calif.

Off James Chappell arrived at the map as they were driving out of town toward Phoenix on a telegraphic descriptions from the Imperial county sheriff, at El Centro.

Ray, who lived alone on his ranch at Holtville, was beaten on the head with a club and robbed of $500 which had been concealed in his cabin. His skull was fractured, and he may die.

Officers said they found $470 of the stolen money on the men when they were arrested.

Suicide Fails As Tide Ebbs in Bay

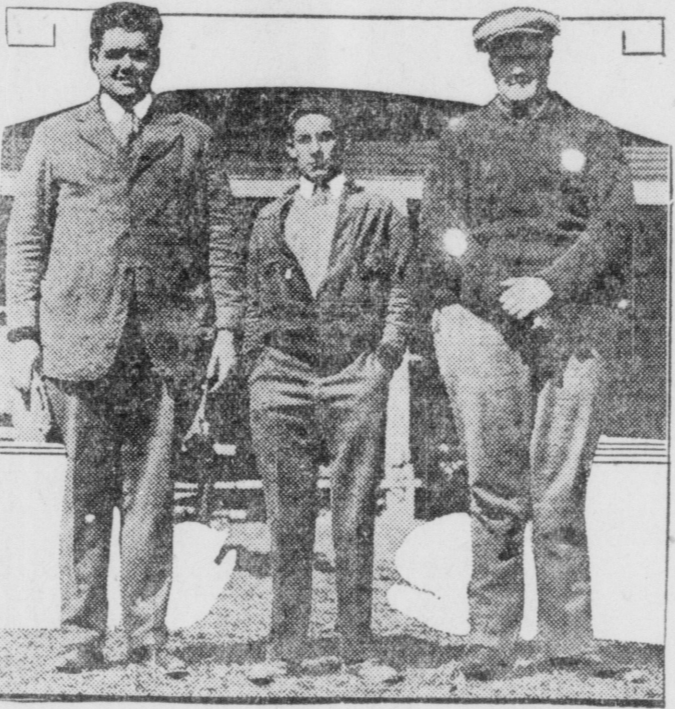

BERKELEY, April 28.—Miss Pauline Rossi, 30, owes her life to the fact that she picked the wrong spot for suicide purposes, while bemoaning her lack of money and friends. Wading into the bay, Miss Rossi was marooned in a mud flat when the tide went out faster than she did.

SPEAKING OF LINEMEN - HOW WOULD THIS PAIR SUIT YOU?

LEFT TO RIGHT—HUMPHREY, TYLER AND MILES. In football, a stout forward wall is one of the biggest items. Good linemen are an absolute necessity. Here we have a pair of chaps that ought to make any coach happy. They are said to be the two largest high school boys in New England.

Maurice Humphrey weighs 290 pounds, is six feet two, and 16 years old. Fred Miles tips the beams at 320, stands six feet five, and is 18 years of age. Alfred Tyler is a normal 16-year-old lad and affords a good comparison of the size of the other two.

All are students at the Bradford (Vt.) high school.

Fremont Team Meets Poly Nine Tomorrow

Fremont high school, Los Angeles, will bring its baseball team to the Poly yard tomorrow afternoon for the last practice drill of the week for Coach Lyman Kidman's Santa Ana team who travel to San Diego Saturday for their third Coast Preparatory league match of the season.

Kidman took his team to Long Beach this afternoon for a workout. Nothing was at stake in this encounter as the Jackrabbits beat the locals, 3 to 1, in their league struggle.

Spencer and Reister were expected to divide pitching work in the Santa Ana game.

FISTIC MOGULS MAY GIVE DEMPSEY O. K.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, may be taken off the New York ineligible list at today's meeting of the New York boxing commission.

In company with Tex Rickard, Dempsey will meet the commission and explain that he didn't mean to be disrespectful when he gave a vague answer to the order that he accept or reject the challenge submitted by Harry Wills. The champion announced that he will sail for Europe on May 6 if he can get passage on that date and that he expects to be gone about six weeks. He does not intend to do any fighting on the other side.

TYRRELL WINS PRAISE FROM TULSA SCRIBE

S. A. Ball Player Hits For 350 In Early Games; Is Now Playing First Base

Hillard ("Tuffy") Tyrrell, has cinched a berth with the Tulsa club of the Western league.

While the big Santa Ana ball player remains silent about his chances in writing home to friends, a story published in The Sporting News, national baseball newspaper, shows that he is "making the grade" and is certain to stick in the Class A circuit.

The story, printed under a Tulsa dateline, is herewith printed in so far as it concerns Tyrrell:

"Guy Sturdy, purchased from Muskogee, looks like a sensation at the initial sack, but unfortunately his injured leg will keep him out of the game for about three more weeks. In the meanwhile Tyrrell, a recruit, is playing a fine game at first and in addition hit over 350 during the exhibition season."

"A careful analysis of the 1925 Tulsa team shows the infield and outfield on a par with any in the league, providing Sturdy and Tyrrell continue to play the brand of baseball they have exhibited so far. Three pitchers, only, appear to have the stuff to make the grade, although some optimistic fans claim possibilities for one or two of the recruits."

"Much credit is due Business Manager Friel in getting Sturdy and Tyrrell. It is possible that this year in Class A may perch them higher next season, so good do they look. Friel is a strong believer in developing youngsters, which, although an ambition of many, is hard to achieve and requires lots of patience."

The Western league opened its season April 16. Tyrrell got one hit in three times that day. He failed to hit safely in two trips the following afternoon but got one safety in four attempts the third day. In all three games his fielding was faultless.

It is evident that Tulsa intends to use Tyrrell in a utility capacity for he can do everything on the ball field well but pitch. When he was with the St. Louis Browns last spring he was used at second base and shortstop in several exhibition games. He started his baseball career in high school as a third sacker but most of his experience has been gained behind the plate.

MISS HALLMAN WINS J. C. TENNIS TITLE

Miss Frances Hallman won the girls' elimination tennis tournament at the Santa Ana junior college yesterday when she defeated Miss Addie Settle, local player, in the finals, 6-1, 6-0.

In tennis meets against other colleges, Miss Hallman will play the best singles matches. According to Miss Florence Treadway, college tennis girls' coach, advances are to be made for an initial game with Fullerton junior college.

Miss Hallman, a freshman student, came here from Orange where she played tennis in high school. She won the right to compete in the finals by defeating Miss Lois Hallman. Miss Settle entered the finals through default.

PHILADELPHIA—Babe Ruth, Philadelphia featherweight, won his 39th consecutive victory when he took a ten round decision from Bobby Garcia, Baltimore.

TOLEDO, Ohio—Charles Rosenberg, world's bantamweight champion, won a 12 round decision from Clarence Rosen, Detroit.

Fights and Fighters

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Sid Terris, the New York lightweight, won from Rocky Kansas, Buffalo, on a foul in the fifth round. Terris was leading by a wide margin when he was fouled.

PHILADELPHIA—Babe Ruth, Philadelphia featherweight, won his 39th consecutive victory when he took a ten round decision from Bobby Garcia, Baltimore.

Mascot of Yankees Is Given Position In Business Office

EDDIE BENNETT

No longer will you see little Eddie Bennett, hunchback mascot of the Yankees, on the ball field. For Eddie has climbed a notch in the work-a-day world and now holds a position in the business office of the Yankees club.

Eddie sort of lost out as the team's luck-bringer when Urban Shocker was acquired by Huggins. Shocker brought his son, Cletus, along with him and with the latter's coming went Eddie's job as mascot.

However, he likes his new post better, or just as well, at least, and is glad for the chance to get a little further ahead in the business universe.

SENATORS AND GIANTS SHOW BEST BASEBALL

Washington Club Impresses Critics With Spirit and Dash; Yanks Off Poorly

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 28.—Early season form is far from infallible but it gives a fairly good line on where a good team is going in the major league pennant races. So far the New York Giants and the Washington Senators are the class of the majors and it is worth a bet that they will win the pennants.

With nine victories in their eleven starts, the Giants are way out in front in the National league. It is true that they have been feasting upon rather easy opposition from Boston, Philadelphia and a Brooklyn club that hasn't found itself yet.

The Senators are in a tie for first place with the dashing Philadelphia Athletics and their positions means much because they were forced to play two series with their most formidable rivals—the New York Giants.

The most impressive thing about the Senators is the winning spirit the club is showing.

The New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers have gone completely to pieces and are a way down in the second division.

The Athletics, perhaps, are the most interesting team in the major leagues. Connie Mack seems to have found a team at last after his years of searching.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's Hero—The St. Louis Browns scored seven runs in the ninth inning and beat the Detroit Tigers 10 to 8. George Sisler hit safely in his thirteenth successive game.

Nine runs scored on a big rally in the eighth gave the White Sox a 12 to 4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Two hits, two errors and a wild pitch gave the Athletics four runs in the first inning and they beat the Yankees, 8 to 0. The Yankees could not do a thing with Gray.

Goslin's homer and a double with Peck on scored two runs in the ninth inning and gave the Senators a 2 to 1 victory over the Red Sox.

"Big Jock" Scott held the Phils safe all the way and hit a homer which helped the Giants win 5 to 2.

JUNIOR REGISTER NEWS

EDITORIALS BY STUDENTS HAVE WIDER RANGE

Topics of Utmost Importance Made Subject For Commentary Statements

The final week of competition for the Junior Register editorial cup has brought out a wide range of submissions. It is encouraging to see articles on the return of Caillaux to public life in France; the election of General Paul von Hindenburg as president of Germany, an event of Sunday. Further proof that the students are alert to what is going on about them is offered in the editorial on Forest Conservation Week.

Law enforcement, with special reference to the eighteenth amendment, was made the topic of a special article by John Winterbourne of Tustin. These students show they are keenly alert to events of world importance, something which cannot be said of every adult citizen, and they should be given credit for it.

—By Hubert Head, Garden Grove Union High School.

RETURN OF CAILLAUX
It is interesting to note that Caillaux, who has recently been appointed minister of finance in France, has taken a similar stand to that of Coolidge in regard to a governmental economy program. Caillaux says that there are only two medicines for national financial diseases. These are: "Work and Economy."

Caillaux has stated that he is no magician and can only bring the government the benefit of his experience. France is beginning to realize that she must dig down and get the money somehow to maintain her solvency. The very sharpness of the pinch may be all that is needed for realization of her crisis and may lead to immediate reform.

—Edith Doosing, Garden Grove Union High School.

IMPORTANCE OF FOREST WEEK
"Forest Week" has been officially proclaimed by President Coolidge for April 27 to May 3. Strenuous efforts are being made to make Americans realize how essential it is that they conserve their forests, especially by preventing forest fires.

Some efforts are being made to reforest parts of the timber land. Massachusetts has distributed 4,000,000 small pine plants to be planted. The Chamber of Commerce of Northfield, Massachusetts, is planning to set out 75,000 trees on a watershed near the town during the next five years.

The American Reforestation association is establishing an organization in Southern California called the Reforesters of America whose motto is: "The Sapling of Today is the Main Timber of Tomorrow." The aim of this organization is to arouse public sentiment to the great need of timber reserves, for they think that adequate reforestation can be procured more quickly in that way than by purely legislative efforts.

—EDITH JOHNSON, Tustin Union High School.

THE FORWARD PASS.

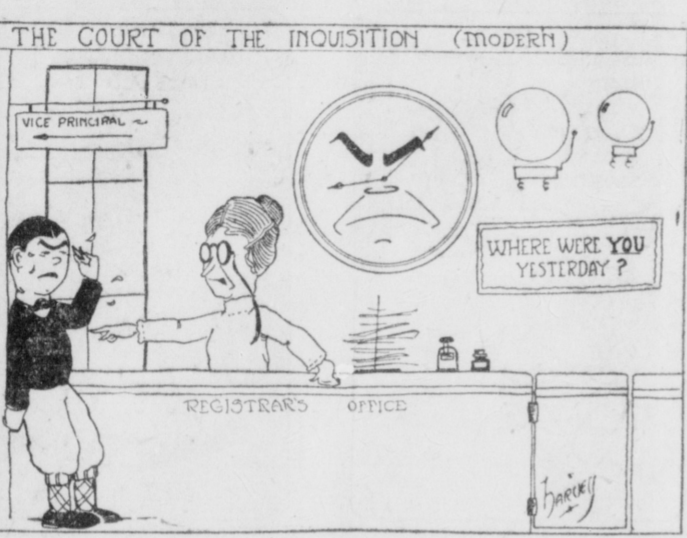

Why does a football coach preach so much to his football boys on the forward pass? He claims that the forward pass sent by a spent player to a fresh one, whose business it is to carry the ball down the field, is, perhaps, the most important play in the game of football. But it is also in this manner that life maintains its very existence, for the giving of the burden of the spent player who is near the end to the young, fresh player, is the most important play in the game of life.

Our fathers and mothers were young once, and they took the burden that their elders gave them, taught them what they had learned in life, showed them how to carry on. Soon it will be our turn to catch the forward pass thrown to us and our turn to carry on.

It is by this very pass that civilization has advanced. Among the first means of sending messages were by fires to give warning that danger lurked about. The older generation taught this to the younger, and the fresh players took the ball. They in turn found that by putting blankets over the fire columns of smoke would rise in the air and send messages further than by the old method. These methods have been so greatly developed that today we have the most intricate sets of code signals, the telephone, the cable, the radio, as well as various other methods.

But some young folks are not willing to receive the forward pass, to take advice from their elders. They want to solve the problem for themselves. But it is their duty to civilization to take the ball and carry it on. This plan has been in operation since the very beginning of existence and it cannot be stopped. Our elders are trying to throw the ball straight and it is our duty to catch it. —Irma Young, Anaheim Union High School.

FINAL ENTRIES IN CONTEST FOR JUNIOR REGISTER CARTOON TROPHY

Here are the last two entries in the Junior Register cartoon contest for this year. The picture above was drawn by Kenneth Harris of Garden Grove union high school. Albert Harvey, Santa Ana high school senior, entered the lower picture. Los Angeles newspaper cartoonists are to judge the cartoons entered during the year and select the cup winner.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IS TOPIC OF ARTICLE BY TUSTIN BOY; PROHIBITION IS DISCUSSED

By JOHN WINTERBOURNE
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 28.—Law enforcement is a question that confronts all Americans just now and us of Southern California in particular. The solution of this problem will determine, to a large extent, whether the United States shall stand true to the ideals of the Father of his Country or crumble and fall as the ancient empires of Rome.

The solution of this problem is vitally important to every true American and I believe is even now within their grasp if they will but make use of it. Laws without the people's support are less than worthless.

The eighteenth amendment is just the one of the many laws in America's constitution but it is the one most commonly broken.

The solution of this American problem may perhaps be illustrated by this little story:

"Mr. A is working in his backyard garden and dreaming as he works of the great deeds of cabbage he will grow and trying to invent a chicken trap to catch neighbor's chickens in when they come to scratch in his garden. He is rudely awakened from this day dream by the roar of a motor car in his neighbor B's yard. Knowing that B is not at home he goes to the fence and beholds, to his astonishment, a bandit is carrying away Mr. B's safe and Mrs. B's jewel box.

"Well," says Mr. A, "that is too bad, this country is going to the dogs;" he gives a deep groan and goes back to his work murmuring, "But it is none of my affairs. I can't see why I should worry my poor head about it."

Poolish, no doubt, but does this sound any better, "Why, yes, it's a common thing, I know he sells regular stuff. He lives just back of our house, but I couldn't do anything about it and anyway it's none of my affair."

It is your affair. It is your duty as a true American to keep the laws and see that they are enforced. It is your duty and my duty to help the officers of this nation keep "America the Beautiful," unstained by loosely enforced laws.

Carroll assailed those who insist that the daily newspaper should "play down" crime news.

"Newspapers," he said, "are often charged with printing too much about crime. Yet only about 15 per cent of the news contained in each issue is devoted to crime."

Like a Bloodless Macbeth "It seems a larger percentage because, strange as it may seem, such news is read more intensely."

"Asking the papers to suppress such items is like asking that Macbeth be written bloodlessly or that Hamlet be performed without the murder of the king."

"The newspaper is universally recognized as a human necessity. It links all peoples with their traditions and their heroes. It serves an immense need in helping with legislative reforms, with social and business needs."

In the trenches during the war newspapers were furnished the men with their food and clothing. Its beginning was so long ago that no man can trace it, and it future leads so far into distance no man can guess it."

TROPHY AWARDS WILL BE LISTED IN NEXT ISSUE

Winners of Junior Register Cups to Be Made Known Next Tuesday

The Junior Register competitive contest is closed. No more material or cartoons will be accepted for prize competition. Material may be submitted for the issue of next Tuesday but that issue will be the last of the year and will contain the names of the Junior Register prize winners.

A flood of material came in this week. Only a portion of it can be published. The best has been selected and will be entered in the prize contests. Especially was there a generous offering of editorials.

Inasmuch as the most of the cartoons were submitted by two boys, one picture by each is displayed in this issue.

Between now and next Tuesday there will be some anxious moments for several of the contestants. Whether they worry or not, of one thing each student can be certain: he, or she, has done his or her best and no one can do more.

It is the hope of the editor that the prize competition and the Junior Register work in general has been of use and interest. This is probably the last year this writer will conduct this school paper. Press of duties as county editor will force him to turn the editorship over to another.

There is a mighty fine group of silver trophy cups under lock and key in the Register office. Next week they are going to be distributed.

SWALLOWS RIVAL BELLS AT TUSTIN

By CARL WEISE
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 28.—Swallows, members of the family Saurapsida, are becoming acclimated to T. U. H. S. In fact, so used are they becoming to the clutter, hum and bustle of Tustin high school, that they are trying to fulfill the wishes of every freshman. They are trying to silence the bells!

Mr. Means, principal, frets and threatens in impotent rage, but to no avail. The birds don't hear him. Threats of twenty-five demerits for tampering with school property slide off their backs like rain, while as for cajolery they are too busy to encourage approaches. In fact, for once Mr. Means is entirely powerless. The silencing of the gongs goes silently and steadily ahead.

"Truth" Play Is Well Presented At Grove School

By LAWRENCE ALLEN
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 28.—The Senior class play, entitled "Nothing but the Truth," was presented in a very charming manner to a well-filled house last Friday evening. Leslie Blair took the leading role, playing the part of Bob Bennett, a truthful salesman. Norma Larson played opposite Bob, taking the part of Gwen Ralston, daughter of E. M. Ralston, a successful New York broker, played by Frank Thompson.

The other characters were: Clarence Van Dusen, speculator, Archie Kearns, Bishop Moran, charity worker, Louis Head, Dick Donnelly, stock salesman, Dolph Kealey, Mable Jackson, a chorus girl, Jewel Crowley, Mable Jackson, a chorus girl, Marie Kirkham, a chorus girl, a temperamental wife, Cynthia Kirven; Ethel Clark, a daughter of wealth, Inis Russell; Martha, the maid, Evelyn Smith.

The parts were well chosen and the play went off exceedingly well.

Try this shortening once and you will know the new satisfaction in cooking

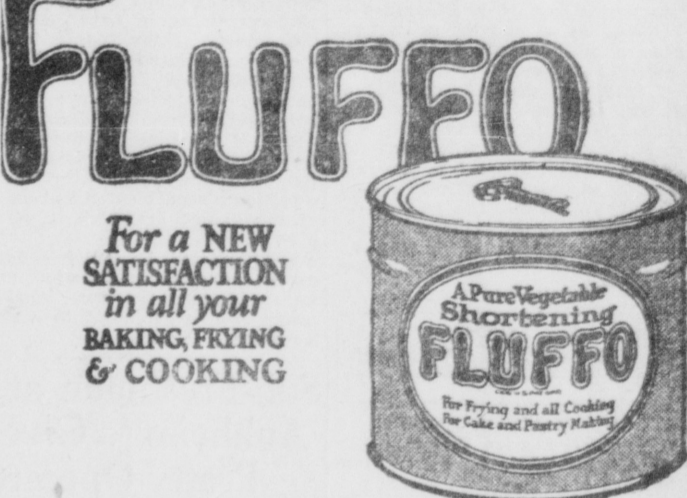

Compare it, if you wish, with any other shortening you have ever used. Or put it to every possible cooking test.

But you'll soon decide it isn't necessary to do all that.

You need only use Fluffo once to be convinced that it has all the qualities of a perfect shortening—and several you never expected to find in any shortening.

Made from highly digestible vegetable oils, refined and re-refined, it is then aerated or made fluffy like whipped cream or beaten egg-whites. That is why Fluffo is so creamy that it mixes easily and evenly with the dry ingredients like flour and sugar. And, besides, this aeration actually helps your dough or batter to rise.

Get a can from your grocer today. Try it—be as critical as you know how. If you are not perfectly satisfied, tell your grocer and he'll refund the full purchase price.

OSAKA POPULATION SURPASSES TOKIO

OSAKA, Japan, April 24.—On April 1, Osaka became the largest city in Japan. The city formally annexed most of the surrounding suburban towns and the greater Osaka has now a population of about 2,000,000 and an area of about 65 square miles.

Tokio, the capital of Japan, was formerly the largest city of Japan, but changed her position with Osaka owing to the decreased population since the earthquake and also to the annexation of suburban towns to Osaka. Tokio's population today is placed at 1,917,000 by the government bureau. It was 2,173,000 on Oct. 1, 1920, the census date before the earthquake in 1922.

The new largest city of Japan is the greatest industrial center of Japan and because of the increased industrialization of the nation and the accompanying trend toward factory centers, Osaka has been expected to grow at a more rapid pace than other cities in Japan.

Kobe retains the position of the third largest city, having 727,444 residents. It recorded a gain of more than 100,000 during the past five years. This increase is attributed in part to the blow dealt Yokohama by the earthquake. But the larger part of the increase is believed to be due to the normal growth in the trade and business interests of the city.

Kyoto, the ancient capital of Japan, retains the ranking of fourth city. It has 681,000 residents. Nagoya, so-called "capital of the middle Japan," is the fifth largest city, having 671,000 inhabitants. Yokohama, the last of the six premier cities of Japan, has a population of 380,000, having decreased from 422,942 of immediate pre-earthquake days.

Capital Letter

By HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Mention has been made, in recent dispatches from here of a "Borah bloc" in the United States senate. Just who the members of this bloc are, however, and by what characteristics they can be identified, have not been made plain.

The fact is, of course, that the term, "Borah bloc" has been used simply as a handy tag to tie to the group of independently-minded Republicans who have declined to permit themselves to be bound by their party's caucus, and who claim the right to vote their own views on public questions regardless of what party "leaders" proclaim to be their duty.

To this number might, properly be added those members recently ousted from G. O. P. councils, on charges of irregularity.

Borah was their champion in the hour of their chastisement. His insurgency is no less real, if more discreet, than was theirs. They will fight with him and for him, in bloc or independently, as occasion requires.

Whether properly labeled as "bloc" or not, and whether fairly grouped under a Borah banner, there no longer remains any doubt but that there is in the new senate an insurgent group that can make itself felt effectively.

Before one qualifies for membership he must have proven the stiffness of his backbone by standing up, unwaveringly, under the load of public criticism, social ostracism and partisan abuse resulting from voting his individual opinion against his party's mandate.

Borah himself says there is a dearth of stiff backbones in Washington. Particularly in the senate. "It is much easier in Washington," says Borah, "to go along than it is to disagree. If there is any atmosphere in God's world that weakens a man's backbone, it is the atmosphere of Washington. The process is constant and drastic."

Just why senatorial insurgents should be described at this time as "the Borah bloc" is not apparent. The most likely guess is that the name was designed in an effort to discredit the influence and prestige of Borah.

By setting before the country a picture of him as leading a "bloc" as undertaking to organize a group which he could lead in opposition to the president or to his party's leadership in the senate, it may be hoped to minimize the force and effect of his later opposition to certain projected party policies.

But according to the appointment of Charles B. Warren, President Coolidge took the precaution of ascertaining in advance what the attitude of the senate toward the new appointee would be.

The president felt that Warren had been subjected to a most embarrassing, even humiliating, ordeal. His feeling in the matter was perhaps as much because of the position in which the double rejection placed Warren as because of the "hole" in which it placed him.

He hesitated, he told friends, to present another nomination until he made sure the new nominee would not be subjected to a similar ordeal.

A ROOF measured in years!

THE final cost of roof can be measured in terms of years only. The maintenance cost, for the entire life of the roof, plus the initial cost is what counts. Because Pioneer Yosemite Asphalt Shingles go right over the old roof and because they do give years of trouble-free service their final cost is amazingly low. Crushed stone, from Yosemite, in red, green, blue black and golden brown, laid over asphalt, endows these shingles with enduring beauty, unyielding durability and final economy. They are sold by all lumber, hardware and building material dealers for both new homes and re-roofing.

FATHER RICARD RAIN PADRE IS ANAHEIM GUEST

Council Members Contribute to Fund For New Tower at Santa Clara

ANAHEIM, April 23.—Father Ricard, Padre of the Rains, paid his first visit to Orange county yesterday and viewed the extensive ranches and groves of oranges, owned by those to whom he has often given advice regarding the weather, and the planting of crops as governed by weather conditions. The aged padre was a guest of the Anaheim Rotary club, but visited every city in the county, following his talk given at the local Rotary club luncheon at which he reviewed his sunspot theories.

Last night he was a guest of the local Knights of Columbus council, at which time he was informed that the Anaheim Knights had gone "over the top," in raising the $775 quota allotted this council, for the Father Ricard Memorial, which is to be erected in the form of an observatory for the astronomer, at the Santa Clara University, where he is a teacher. Work will be started on the observatory on May 7, sufficient money having been donated by Knights of Columbus throughout the state, to proceed with the erection of this appropriate memorial.

Father Ricard came to California half a century ago from France, as a teacher in the Santa Clara college, conducted by the order of the Society of Jesus, or Jesuits, as they are more commonly known. For many years he taught mathematics and stole from needed relaxation the hours he worked at his telescope. For a quarter of a century he has been a regular observer sending daily reports to the U. S. Weather Bureau. He has discovered and elaborated a method of weather forecasting that is not without scientific foundation and experimental corroboration. He has made mistakes for them and factors yet to be determined, but he is largely in the right, it is claimed.

Father Ricard's observatory looks like a cluster of chicken houses, all of wood; one, eight by ten, houses the six-inch telescope; another, four by six, is for clocks; a third, twelve by eighteen, is his study and library. In this room are all his papers and records of a quarter of a century's observation.

It is to alleviate these conditions that the memorial is to be built to supply the padre with the proper surroundings for his work. Long range forecasting will not pass with the passing of the Padre, however, for three young men have been trained by the priest to carry on the work. To these and to the men who come after him, he desires to leave an observatory and an equipment worth while.

TUSTIN LODGE LAWYER MARKS LAYS STONE FOR FINE BUILDING JOB AS JUDGE

Rev. Percy Clarkson of Orange Give Main Address at Sunday Ceremony

TUSTIN, April 23.—Sunday was a day which will be long remembered in the minds of Tustin folk, as the ceremony of placing the cornerstone of the new Knights of Pythias building was held.

A large crowd listened to the program which was held inside the unfinished building. Rev. McDonnell offered words of prayer, after which the K. P. quartet, Messrs. Tingley, Thompson, J. Utt and Bishop, sang, accompanied by Miss Thelma Artz at the piano. S. W. Stanley then introduced Rev. U. P. Clarkson of Orange, who spoke very encouraging words of praise on the efforts of the little lodge. When Rev. Clarkson was invited to officiate in this position Sunday, he said he was delighted to do so on his many trips through Tustin as the advance agent for the Episcopal church over Orange county. He had wondered what that new building was to be. He was still more anxious to come, as Tustin still has the mother church of the Episcopal faith, which was built 50 years ago. The old church is still standing, as a two story residence, on a street. He complimented Tustin still further by naming it the Gateway to the King's Highway, which is that lovely avenue of gum trees as one turns onto Laguna avenue from D street on the way to San Diego.

A wonderful thought in his speech was "the lodges of the country were the chivalry of the church." This brotherhood and the Pythian Sisters have banded themselves together in love of country and their flag, and are to be depended upon for help and chivalry. In building their new home, they are expressing their best ideals of advancement as knighthood stands for advancement and honor.

Another song was sung by the quartet, after which Clyde Bishop gave an address. After placing the lodge flag into the hands of H. W. Smith, one of the oldest members of Tustin and the G. A. R., he said he had felt honored to be called upon for an address, as all who belong to the local order, as he does, have a right to be proud, and those who do not, have a right to be proud of it. Within three years, every man's shoulder has been to the wheel, with the result, this new home. No other organization has come out in their own home to adorn Tustin.

He spoke very complimentary of the members' will to have an institution made up of common friendship; as the door of Pythianism never swings outward.

Then James B. Utt, a resident of Tustin since childhood, president of the Pythian Building Association, placed the records and names of the 150 members of the Knights, 73 members of the Pythian Sisters, over which the lovely gray marble plate was securely cemented. Mrs. Eva Logan, presiding officer of the Pythian Sisters, presented the flag to the lodge, and which was very proudly held by their official flag bearer, Mrs. Harry Kizer, while everyone sang "America".

Say North County Attorney Has Strong Chance of Being Chosen

FULLERTON, April 23.—The possibility of Attorney E. J. Marks of this city being named by Governor Richardson to serve the unexpired term of Superior Judge F. C. Drumm who presented his resignation last Saturday, became known today.

It is asserted that two years ago, when department number three was created, Governor Richardson considered Major Marks' name along with Mr. Drumm's as a possible candidate for the newly created judgeship and though the Fullerton man did not receive the appointment it is asserted his candidacy received favorable consideration at that time.

Major Marks is the senior member of the firm of Marks, Luener and Collins, prominent attorneys in this city, who have practiced here for a number of years. When questioned today on the possibility of his being a candidate for the position to be left vacant by Judge Drumm, he declined to make any statement.

Judge Drumm is retiring from public life to continue his law practice in Santa Ana.

Racing Pigeons From Grove Win County Contests

FULLERTON, April 23.—Making a record of approximately 36 miles per hour, racing homer pigeons owned by S. C. Orley of Garden Grove, won the racing tournament staged by Orange county pigeon fanciers Saturday.

The birds were represented in the meet 27 homer pigeons owned by S. C. Orley of Garden Grove, Wesley Cunningham of Santa Ana, C. P. Cunningham, also of Santa Ana, C. C. Clark of Fullerton, and W. C. Hoskins, also of this city, being liberated from Bakersfield Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock.

At the outset of the race the birds were forced to attain an altitude of over a mile high in order to cross the mountains south of Bakersfield. The total distance covered by the contesting flyers was approximately 160 miles.

The birds owned by Wesley Cunningham, a 13-year-old boy, arrived at their home lofts but 8 minutes behind the winners and completely outclassed the pigeons entered by the boy's father, C. P. Cunningham.

The contest Saturday was the first of a series to be conducted under the auspices of the Orange County Racing club. A handsome trophy has been promised for the loft making the best average speed for the six tournaments it is planned to conduct. The second meet will be held next Saturday and the birds will be liberated from Tipton, in Tulare county.

Missionary Of India Tells of Hospital Work

FULLERTON, April 23.—Called the "Dr. Mayday of India," Dr. W. J. Wanless, medical missionary to India spoke in the Presbyterian church Sunday night telling a dramatic story of the founding of the hospital he has headed for the past 28 years in the center of that backward country. The hospital began as a tiny clinic in one room in a schoolhouse, the doctor asserted, but now it is a modern institution comprising forty buildings.

During the life of the hospital, Dr. Wanless asserts, 1,200,000 patients have been treated, a record even for a large American hospital. In addition to the regular clinic a special department takes care of leprosy. Sixty nurses and doctors comprise the staff.

The visiting missionary is traveling in the United States to become acquainted with the latest developments in medical and surgical science so that his mid-Indian hospital may keep fully up to date. After a few months more in the East he plans to return and take up the work in India.

Orange Jail Is Little Used As Speeders Pay

ORANGE, April 23.—With the exception of an occasional vagrant, who is given a night's free lodging, the Orange "municipal hotel," with its barred rooms and modern "comforts," has been vacant for many moons.

The only criminals arrested recently in Orange have been speeders, and when they have appeared in court they have had clutched in their hands, the necessary cash to buy their freedom.

Here's a man right after reporters' and editors' own hearts. He's James M. Thompson, publisher of the New Orleans Item and Morning Tribune.

Thompson, in an interview this week said:

"The root of publishing trouble is that too little attention is paid by owners and publishers of newspapers generally to the veritable heart-beat of their properties. I mean the reporters and editors."

"To develop good reporters, and properly compensate them has been secondary to the stress laid on other phases of newspaper publishing."

EVENING SALUTATION

Better trust all and be deceived.
And weep that trust and that deceiving.
Than doubt one heart that it believed
Had blessed one's self with true believing.

Oh, in this mocking world too fast
The doubting fiend o'er takes our youth;
Better be cheated to the last
Than lose the blessed hope of truth.
—Frances Anne Kemble.

WATER FOR SANTA ANA

An adequate water supply for Santa Ana is within our grasp.

Deep wells and a reservoir located high upon a range of hills—these are proposed.

Not in years, if ever, has a Board of City Trustees received a report of importance equal to that received last night. Santa Ana has reached the limit of the usefulness of its present system. The city has grown up to the system's capacity. To go on as we have been going for the past two years means that we would stand in continual danger from fire. A long dry season might find our needs greater than it is possible for wells located in the southwestern part of the city to meet.

The proposal that Santa Ana vote $1,206,000 in bonds to buy the necessary lands and to establish the necessary pumping plants, water lines and reservoir is not based upon guesswork. A thorough survey has been made by J. B. Lippincott, one of the foremost water engineers in the Southwest. He is thoroughly familiar with the history of water in this county. His recommendations are based not only upon the survey of conditions as he has found them to be at the present time but also upon his intimate knowledge of conditions as they have been for several decades past. His judgment as to what the future will bring is to be relied upon as a sincere judgment of a capable, experienced engineer.

An examination of the engineer's report shows conclusively that the survey has been thorough. The high professional standing and success of J. B. Lippincott in themselves are assurance of the thoroughness of his work.

The project is laid before us. Santa Ana has been waiting for months for this report, waiting for an opportunity to secure an adequate water supply. The plan is before us. The next step is to vote the bonds.

No doubt "action and reaction are equal," as the scientist says. But somehow reaction seems to last longer.

SAVE MONTICELLO

One great national shrine, Mount Vernon, has been not only preserved from Revolutionary days but perpetuated as a public memorial. Not far away, in the Virginia hills, is another almost equally famous but still in private hands, fallen into disrepair and burdened with debt. It is Monticello, as intimately associated with Thomas Jefferson as Mount Vernon with George Washington. There is an energetic effort being made to rescue and preserve it as a national monument.

The effort so far centers in New York, where there is a big committee of citizens representing patriotic and educational societies, trades and industries, planning to raise the necessary money and prepare for a great celebration next year. July 4, 1926, will be the 150th anniversary of Jefferson's Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of Jefferson's death.

Monticello was designed and built by Jefferson himself, as was Mount Vernon by Washington. "There were giants in those days." It is a noble reminder of one of the two most conspicuous men of the revolutionary period, at the same time a statesman, a farmer, a scientist, an architect and an inventor. The plan to save Monticello should be supported in every section, by every class of Americans.

There can be no more fitting memorial to any great man than the home he creates in his maturity, to express himself and fit his own needs. A mere glimpse of the spacious beauty and nobility of homes like the two mentioned gives every succeeding generation new respect and admiration for the "founding fathers."

A pedestrian is usually a person who has left his car in the garage.

THE WORLD FINANCIER

American money continues to flow abroad. It is a greater stream than most Americans realize. Foreign loans, national and industrial, are being raised in this country right along. American gold is exported. American goods are shipped abroad on credit. The excess of exports over imports has been more than $1,000,000,000 in the last nine months. Foreign securities have been bought by Americans so far this year at the rate of $100,000,000 a month.

American investments of private capital abroad are expected to pass $11,000,000,000 by the end of the year, and to call for perhaps $1,000,000,000 a year interest. Taking private and public loans and investments together, one authority estimates that America's financial stake in Europe is now more than $25,000,000,000.

Europe will do well merely to pay the interest on that vast sum, for the next few years. It is an open question whether many billions of the principal will ever be paid.

Some people who have been shouting for business normalcy, don't seem to recognize it when they get it.

A LINE OF BUREAUCRACY

To a citizen complaining of the Government Printing Office rule that an order for a cheap government bulletin must be accompanied by "postal money order, express order or New York draft," instead of the simple expedient of enclosing five cents in postage stamps, the superintendent writes:

"I fully appreciate your point of view regarding this requirement, but am sure you will realize that we could not advertise the fact that we would accept stamps, for the reason that we would be flooded with quantities that we could not use, and the Post-office department does not redeem them for us."

Which neatly begs the whole question. The question is, why the government printing office and the post office department does not get together on so simple a matter as this, and enable citizens to obtain public documents on which there is a charge of only a few cents by sending stamps for them, instead of going to the trouble and expense of getting "postal money order, express order, New York draft."

Here is a striking example of bureaucratic awkwardness, which inconveniences the public without really saving any trouble to the departments concerned. They could handle stamps as well as other forms of payments.

"Tornadoes, like lightning," observes a weather sharp, "never strike twice in the same place." They don't have to.

Changes In Motor Vehicle Law
Redlands Facts.

One of the things the present legislature did was to make the bicycle over into a motor car—or, at least, make it amenable to the same traffic laws. And all motorists will be interested in other changes in the statute.

Motorists, not heretofore licensed, will be required to file sworn statements of their qualifications to operate a motor vehicle when applying for an operator's license. The division of motor vehicles, at its discretion, may hold an examination to determine the applicant's qualifications. Beginners will be given a temporary permit, valid for thirty days, when the beginner is accompanied by a licensed operator.

The age limit of chauffeurs is raised from 16 to 18 years.

The division of motor vehicles is given authority to refuse licenses to narcotic addicts, habitual drunkards and persons unable to exercise ordinary control over a vehicle. The right of appeal to the superior court is reserved.

The division of motor vehicles is given the right to revoke or suspend the licenses of operators convicted of manslaughter or other felonies in which the use of a motor car is involved, also where, after a hearing, it is found a driver has caused injury to person or serious damage to property or where investigation shows he is afflicted with mental or physical disabilities rendering him a menace to public safety. Right of appeal to the superior court is reserved.

Bicycles are classified as motor vehicles, making them subject to the rules of the road.

The time of registration is changed to December 31st and certificates of ownership are made valid indefinitely, new certificates being required only in case of transfer or cancellation.

Fees on electric commercial vehicles are readjusted, commercial vehicles used exclusively for rural free delivery mail purposes are exempted from the weight fees and payment of commercial car weight fees is placed on a quarterly basis.

Vehicles with small boxes on the rear, used only occasionally for the transportation of property, are exempted from weight fees.

Motorists arrested on a misdemeanor section of the act are entitled to five days within which to appear for trial, as at present, but identification of the driver may be required by the arresting officer.

A Light That Failed
San Bernardino Sun.

Some educators and citizens in Missouri saw a light, but the eyes of the members of the legislature were dim and the light failed. We need just such a light in California, but it would doubtless fall here also the first time an effort was made to have the legislature see it. The light was the principle that education is a state matter and not one of purely local interest. There is great illiteracy in the mountain sections of Missouri. There is illiteracy in the mountain sections of California. There has been much talk here as there abouts when it comes to remedy illiteracy, but always when it is done it is something which helps the populous districts the most. To those who have been given.

Figures show that the counties having the largest school population and the most high schools also have the lowest school taxes. Counties with but one high school or none at all are levying more than twice the school tax rate of counties having a dozen or more. This anomalous state of affairs results largely from the fact that the state school fund is distributed proportional to average daily attendance. Counties whose schools are able to keep open nine months with large enrollment get almost all the money, while the poor and sparsely settled districts which can support a school but two or three months get but a little drizzle. So, in spite of the fact that the poor districts tax themselves 100 per cent more for schools than do the rich ones, they are unable to secure the schools.

We have been able to place the state highway system on a state basis and to recognize that the wealthy sections must pay for the roads in the thinly settled and mountainous sections, and that this is an equitable arrangement for the common welfare. The same attitude should be held towards the educational system, and state funds should be used where needed the most and not on a purely local and population basis. That is the only way illiteracy can be successfully attacked. Help should go where it is really needed, not merely to reduce taxes where there is ample ability to maintain good schools. We need in this matter a greater solidarity and a wider loyalty.

YOUR HEALTH

EARACHE

Have you ever stopped a moment to consider that almost everything in life, customs and habits changes except the use and misuse of the old-fashioned neighborhood remedies? The cure for earache is clearly one of these. The ear plug of cotton, usually accompanied by the "dropping in" of sweet oil and laudanum, in spite of all that shall ever be said or written against it, will be continued. Roasted onions and hosts of similar substances will no doubt be used to the end of time.

Whatever the cause or remedy, earache requires careful treatment to afford relief. Neuralgia is rarely, if ever, the cause of earache. Careful examination by a physician can alone determine the real cause. Beware of "ear-drops" for relief. If you try a number and the last one affords relief, that's it. I mean, look out for it.

Earache is caused by scratching or by irritation and infection of the auditory canal. This slight infection may produce a small boil which causes temporary pain. The scratching and infection in most cases are the result of amateur attempts to remove ear-wax. Sometimes, when this ear-wax has been tightly pressed against the drumhead of the ear, earache will result, but not usually.

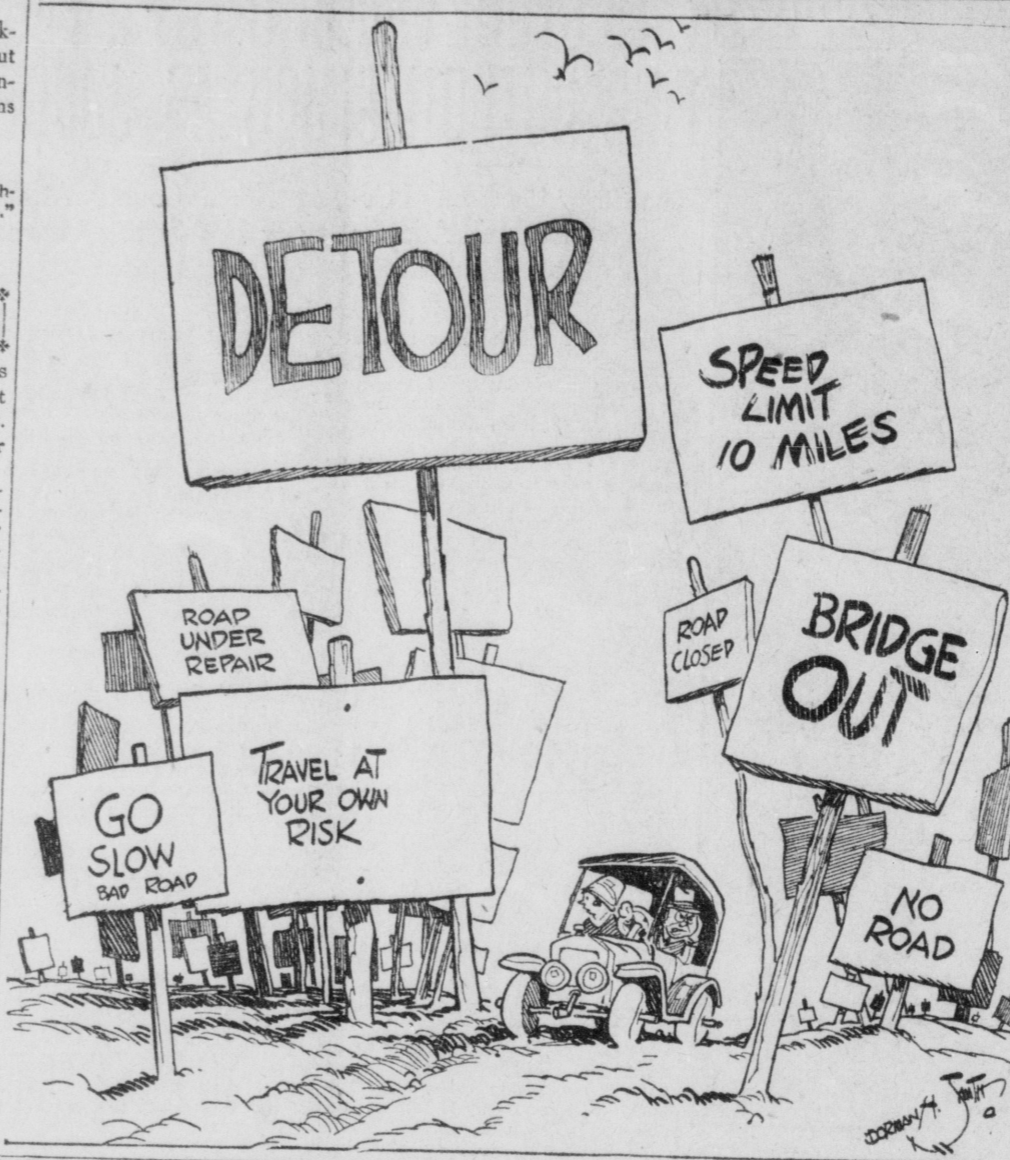

Again, earache may be caused by catarrhal conditions. This so-called serious catarrh is a disease of the drum-cavity. It is very common in children who are not properly cared for and sometimes is the cause of running ear and small blisters on the drumhead. Slight deafness will also result from this cause.

Earache may also be caused by nasal discharges used improperly. Violent or improper nose blowing sometimes carries fluid where it irritates the ear.

No remedy is more useful or easy to apply in slight cases of earache than boiled water cooled down to a temperature the ear can stand, about 125 degrees Fahrenheit. The ear drops only give heat and hot water can do it better. Protect the ear carefully from external influences. Use a night cap if you wish; it will do no harm and often does good.

Severe cases of earache are not for the layman to fuss with. Call your physician, as it may be a serious complication.

Peaceful Example

Let the Western Hemisphere lead the world in the ways of peace. General Pershing is an enthusiast as to the influence these western republics can wield in fostering world peace. To quote his words:

To insure the permanence of peace in the Western Hemisphere would be the most important step that could be taken in the interest of world peace.

General Pershing has been in South America and has studied conditions there. He is returning, on a diplomatic mission to South America. He foresees amazing development of commerce between the United States and the southern republics. He says that a new era has begun in the Latin republics—an era of "law, not of men." Consequently, government is stabilized, order reigns, industry flourishes and commerce expands. Financial assistance from the United States would help greatly to develop industry and to increase commerce in Latin America—and this country would benefit stupendously from this development.

Meanwhile, to maintain peace and concord among all these republics; to perpetuate friendly and cordial relations between the United States and its sister republics, would be to the world an example and an influence that should be promotive of universal peace.

Worth While Verse

THE PRAYER OF A TREE

I was monarch of forests—mighty and free—
When fire in wild fury swept upon me.

Now I'm blackened, distorted, scorned, passed by—
O God, hear my prayer! O God, hear my cry!

Through long years I ruled, supreme on the height,
Divinely akin to celestial light;

Stately proud, I scattered my seeds far and wide,
Begetting rare forest, spanning divide;

In my arms singing birds found home and retreat,
Glad flowers of the wildwood bloomed at my feet.

I was radiant! I pulsed 'neath the sun at high noon,
My leaves were like fire-flies tipped by the moon.

The infinite source gave me every desire,
Till the torturing fiend—the wild beast of fire,

With jaws dripping hate, relentlessly came,
Destroying my world with talons of flame.

My forests beloved, bright growth of the years,
Lie dead and denuded, bathed by heaven's tears.

Nesting birds pass me by in their flight o'er the hill,
The flowers that I love lie blackened and still.

While the winds that caressed with soft, fragrant breath
Are heavy with smoke and menace of death.

O God, hear my cry! hear my prayer unto Thee!
Teach man to protect—to love—every tree!

Fishin'

Hal Cockran's
DAILY POEM

GIVE ME a rowboat, a couple of oars and a sun shining bright over my head. Fetch me some bait, and some fisherman's stores and some ham and a loaf of rye bread.

Point to the spot where the fishin' is fair, and give the old rowboat a shove. Grant me the strength just to row myself there, so I'll be in the life that I love.

Plunk! goes the anchor. I'm settled at last, and I wiggle a worm on a hook. Swish through the air, and a line is soon cast. A bobber is riding the brook.

Run along, world, 'cause I'm busy just now. Busy at loafin' and such. Sure, I can fish, for I've always known how, but the fishes aren't bitin'—not much.

Might just as well take it easy a spell, and sneak me a half an hour's snooze. Can't miss a lot, for it seems, at this spot, that there aren't any fishes to lose.

Say! Where's the sun? Why, the night time's begun. I've slept all the afternoon through. True, fishin' is slick, but if I have my pick, why, I'd rather just sleep—wouldn't you?

Forestry and Patriotism

Originally written by Chas. D. Ker, a School Boy of Staunton, Va.

"Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said—
This is my own, my native land!"

Can it be imagined for a moment that this fervid patriotic utterance could have reference to a land of mere bricks and mortar, a man-made land, rather than a land of great open spaces and mighty forests, a land of sunshine and shadows, where the green carpet of the rolling meadows is succeeded by the cool and quiet shadows of the mighty forests! And could the fire of patriotism be kindled in any heart by a vast, unbroken, denuded, treeless tract, so that it would spontaneously sing forth with pride, "This is my own, my native land!"

Or would the village blacksmith shop have had any really poetic setting had it not stood "under a spreading chestnut tree?" And yet, under the ruthless hand of man, the mighty forests have been, and are being, devastated, not merely for man's necessary use, but by reason of man's ignorance and carelessness.

No man who really loves his country would for one moment cast any obstacle in its march of progress, or do ought but to encourage the proper utilization of the products of the forests as well as the products of the field, but it is equally true that no patriotic man can fail to view with alarm and wasteful and unnecessary destruction of the forests. The care and protection of the forests is not for the purpose of preventing man from making use of their products, but of affording the maximum production with the minimum waste and object of those who advocate the preservation of the forests by the application of the rules governing proper forestry is not merely to preserve their beauty and grandeur beneath whose quiet, cooling shades poets may sing or patriots may worship, but even from the standpoint of strict utility and national prosperity, and aside from the standpoint of these sentimental considerations, it is absolutely necessary that the forests be handled in a prudent, careful, and guarded way, so that the waste of today may not bring the want of tomorrow.

Then, too, it must be borne in mind that a treeless land is an arid land. The care and preservation of the forests is essential that the fields and meadows may continue to be green and productive by the natural regulation of the supply of moisture.

It must be borne in mind that the destruction of a forest may be an extremely rapid process, whereas the growth of forest trees is, under the most favorable conditions, necessarily slow. A carelessly started fire may wipe out in a day vast tracts of valuable timber that it has taken years to grow, and will take years to replace.

True patriotism springs from the heart and evinces a sincere and deep love of country, and not merely an acquiescence in its form of government and observance of its laws and statutes. The true patriot loves his country for its beauty, its productiveness, its progress, and prosperity. And the true patriot will show his love of country and patriotism not merely by empty words but by deeds. There can be no question that active participation in the care and preservation of the forests, in the planting and care of trees, in perpetuating the beauty and promoting the prosperity of his country, should be the duty and pleasure of every patriotic citizen. Joining with the great army of patriots in this land of liberty, he should

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 20—THE GOBLIN TEACHES A LESSON

"Ochoo! Achoo! Achoo!" went the lady who was having her picture taken.

"That's not the way," said the photographer man. "You mustn't sneeze. You must sit very still while I count five. Now look at the little bird—so! And hold your head just so! Smile, please. No, that's too much! No, that isn't enough! Just look as though you heard a circus parade coming down the street. That's the way! Fine—simply fine!"

He got behind his camera and stuck his head under a big black cloth and took a good look.

"Couldn't be better," he said, holding up his hand. "Now sit perfectly still until I say five. One—two—three—"

"A-a-choo!" went the lady again.

Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz, peeping through the velvet curtain, knew why the lady had suddenly appeared to catch such a cold. They saw the bad goblin with the stolen snuff box, perched on the top of a screen behind her back, and blowing snuff as hard as he could every time the photographer man started to count.

"My, my!" said the photographer man crossly. "I think you should have gone to the doctor's for some medicine instead of coming here. I have never heard such sneezing in all my life."

"I'm sorry," said the lady. "But I feel all right now. I'm sure I shan't sneeze again."

"Very well," said the photographer man a little more patiently. "Please sit the way I showed you and look at the birdie and smile."

And once more he got behind his camera and stuck his head under the black cloth to see if everything was all right.

"Shall we catch Snitcher Snatch now?" whispered Nancy anxiously.
